GI Accused In Shooting Korean Boy

Army Train Guard Kills 15-Year-Old; Demonstration Held

SEOUL — (AP) — A U. S. Army train guard shot and killed a 15-year-old Korean boy today at Kumchon. The newspaper Chosun Ilbo immediately branded the incident "a barbarous action" and said several hundred Koreans had demonstrated, demanding the guard be turned over.

The Army identified him as Specialist 3.C. Raymond L. Bailey (Route 1) Brownsburg, Ind.

It said Song Joon Won was one of several youths found tampering with the door of a sidetracked boxcar. Bailey ordered them to halt, fired in the air, then at the ground near the fleeing youths, hitting Song. The youth died in a hospital 90 minutes later.

Didn't Hear Shots

The newspaper said: Six students were passing by about 20 yards from the boxcar, and didn't hear Bailey shouting. They continued to walk until Song was shot.

"As news of the incident spread among Kumchon citizens," the paper continued, "hundreds of Koreans as well as harassed family members swarmed around the station demanding the soldier be handed over to them."

Police Protect Soldier

"For some time," the paper stated, "the excited, shouting crowd created a tense atmosphere. Korean national police protected the soldier until handed over to American military investigators flown into the scene in helicopters."

Another newspaper, Dong A Ilbo, reported police described the crowd after the situation became "threatening."

There was no immediate comment about this from the Army.

Jury Indicts 12 In Police Force Probe

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — A series of newspaper articles exposing alleged irregularities in the Jefferson County police force brought indictments against 12 persons — including the writer of the articles — yesterday.

The Jefferson County grand jury indicted the writer's city editor, a former police chief and four suspended officers.

Barry Bingham, president of the Louisville Courier-Journal and Louisville Times, called charges of knowingly receiving stolen property against his two employees fantastic.

The jury indicted writer Hank Massick and city editor John Herchenroeder, accusing them of having in their possession a receipt allegedly stolen from former Police Chief Walter R. Layman.

Photographs of the receipt appeared in the Courier-Journal with the first of a series of articles by Messick, charging Layman "paid off" a robbery-assault victim to avoid possible criminal prosecution against his son Walter R. Layman Jr. The chief resigned the next day.

British Labor Party Rejects H-Bomb Ban

BRIGHTON, England — (INS) — The British Labor Party Congress voted overwhelmingly today to reject a motion demanding that Britain cease manufacturing hydrogen bombs.

The vote on the minority motion was 5,336,000 to 761,000.

ROME (INS) — Trans World Airlines inaugurated a new nonstop New York-to-Rome service today, with the arrival of the first plane at Ciampino Airport after a 14-hour 8-minute trans-Atlantic flight.

Firemen's New 'Champ' Wanted Snake 'Put Out'

PARIS, Ky. — The Bourbon Trooper Joe Hill left immediately County Fire Department headquarters today when called again by a new unofficial — and unfire — fireman to ask what was identified — champion for calling the delay.

When the men arrived, they found the woman had moved most of the furniture in the house. Apparently the snake moved too — it couldn't be found.

The new champ, also a woman, called yesterday a literally screaming, "There's a snake in my house. Come over here and come build a fire in the furnace of her home — which they did."

Hoffa Certain Of Teamster Ballot Victory

T. L. Hickey Quits As Candidate; Union Faces AFL-CIO Ouster

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — Thomas L. Hickey of New York today withdrew as a candidate for the Teamster Union presidency in favor of William A. Lee of Chicago.

There were indications, too, that Thomas X. Haggerty, also of Chicago, might pull out to leave Lee as the sole opponent of James R. Hoffa, leading contender for the union's presidency.

Hoffa appeared a sure winner, but his opponents were determined to carry the convention decision for control of the giant scandal-ridden union to a record, reliable vote.

His election later today would mean an almost sure ouster of the Teamsters from the AFL-CIO.

Court Tests Ahead

Further court tests of charges that delegates to the Teamsters convention here were "rigged" in favor of Hoffa lie ahead before the Midwest Teamsters boss can step into the shoes of retiring President Dave Beck Dec. 1.

Teamster delegates showed little disposition to attach significance to the AFL-CIO expulsion threat. In a tumultuous session yesterday, they gave Hoffa a clean bill of health by angrily voting to expunge the corruption charges from the convention record.

Canada Reports 12 Dead Of Flu

TORONTO — The number of deaths blamed on Canada's spreading influenza epidemic mounted to 12 today, but one expert said Asian flu would not be the worst killer.

"The Asian type is much less severe than our Canadian influenza we have each year," commented Dr. Roger Foley, Quebec provincial epidemiologist.

CHICAGO — Grains and soybeans opened mixed on the Board of Trade today.

Woman Seeks Name Change

DETROIT — (INS) — A 30-year-old Hamtramck, Mich., mother pleaded yesterday to Probate Judge William J. Cody to permit her to change her name.

Mrs. Frances Miles said, "Folks think Frances means a man."

Judge Cody asked, And what would you like to be called, Frances?

She replied, "Jackie."

Cooperation Between U. S. States Aired

CHICAGO — Governors of nine states and representatives of the federal government today began a new series of discussions aimed at closer cooperation on programs of overlapping federal-state interest.

The joint sessions, which are private, resulted from a suggestion by President Eisenhower to the annual Governors Conference in Williamsburg, Va. in June. He recommended the governors, headed by Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois, confer with federal officials on problems of mutual interest.

Stratton appointed a special nine-man committee on federal-state relations, and the group met with the President's committee at Hershey, Pa. in August. Arrangements for the current two-day session were made then.

An early committee arrival, Gov. Victor E. Anderson of Nebraska said last night the talks could result in eventual tax cuts. He said federal officials at the Hershey meeting agreed to give up taxes amounting to $45 million dollars a year.

In turn, he said, state representatives agreed to assume programs totaling 400 million dollars. Anderson said this would mean a net saving of 145 million.

There is "general agreement," he said, that the federal government should turn back some of the income tax collections to finance programs it wants to states to assume.

Russians Employ Rocket To Check Data On Weather

WASHINGTON — Russia is using a come-back-home weather rocket which soars up 50 miles or more, then parachutes back to land near its launching site for another trip.

The 21-foot rocket is aimed so it can usually be recovered and used again and again.

On its sky trip it records temperatures and air pressures to help forecast weather.

This rocket and all its components were described in full detail last night by Prof. A. M. Kasatkin to a conference of International Geophysical Year scientists. Weather analysis is one main IGY study.

Stock Move Lower

NEW YORK — The stock market moved lower in moderate trading today. Aircrafts took early trading losses.

Girard Fired At Other Jap Shell Hunters

Two Witnesses Claim 3 Or 4 Attacked By Accused American GI

MAEBASHI, Japan — Two Japanese farmers today accused William S. Girard of firing at three or four other Japanese shell scavengers on a firing range the day he killed Mrs. Naka Sakai.

The testimony came at a marathon court session during which the prosecution in the manslaughter trial read a statement by the Illinois soldier's Japanese wife admitting they lived together for 17 months before their marriage last July 1.

Tried To Halt Testimony

The appearance of the two Japanese farmers came after the prosecution tried vainly to keep them from the stand. It asked that instead the court accept statements they made during the investigation last February.

Associate Prosecutor Kakuichi Sugimoto contended the statements would be more accurate because "their memories have become hazy."

Tangles Up Witnesses

Hayashi tangled up the two farmer witnesses, Yoshizo Koyama and Tatsuo Kani, on several points but stuck to their identification of the soldier.

Mass Move Fails As 75 Leave Class

Insults Hurlled At Those Inside; Negro Students Get Guard

LITTLE ROCK — About 75 white students walked out of Central High School classes today in what was scheduled as a mass protest against racial integration within the school.

The white boys and girls began struggling from the main entrance of the building within moments after the 9 a.m. change-of-classes bell rang.

They walked quietly across the campus and massed on the curbing across from the building.

There they called to other students peering from the windows and doorways to join them.

Prince Faces Fraud Charge

STOCKHOLM — (INS) — Prince Carl Bernadotte, nephew of King Gustav Adolf of Sweden, was indicted for fraud today by the investigating judge of the Stockholm court.

The prince was accused of giving "moral support" to businessman Bert Gullenborg, who was accused of defrauding an elderly spinster Miss Florence Stevens, of $37,000.

Miss Stevens, 76, has made Prince Carl her sole heir.

Egypt Would Defend Syria, U. N. Warned

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — Egypt pledged today it would not "tolerate that even a finger tip of Syria be hurt, or a hair of Syria be razed by any aggressor."

At the same time, Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Pawanji said the 42-nation U. N. General Assembly that Syria offered no threat to anybody. He called for a cooling-off period on the Middle East situation.

Charges that Syria's arms buildup was a threat, he said, were simply a balloon which already had "exploded and faded into nothingness."

Referring indirectly to assertions that Syria has come under Soviet domination, he said if anyone says Syria is throwing away its independence "that one feels nobody but himself."

Church Council Lays Out Move In School Crisis

NEW YORK — The National Council of Churches has commended President Eisenhower's handling of the Little Rock school integration crisis, and praised Christian forces in the Arkansas city for "standing up for justice, law and self-discipline."

The commendation of the President came near the end of a meeting yesterday of the council's general board, its interim governing body.

Declines Answer

WASHINGTON — Eisenhower declined to answer for a half hour with questions on racial integration, President Eisenhower excused himself today from saying whether the Naval Academy football team should be sent to a segregated stadium.

Jobless Jap Workers Nab U. S. Civilians

Group Dismissed By Army Needs One-Day Work To Get Benefits

TOKYO — Japanese workers fired by the U. S. Army in a cutback held two American civilian employees of the Army prisoner today for more than three hours.

The Americans, William Oglesby of Denver, Colo., and Walter Nebela of Hilo, Hawaii, were released unharmed from the Japanese labor management office in Tokorozawa, 20 miles northwest of Tokyo, after local police intervened.

The pair had gone to the office to explain the dismissal of 250 employees of the Army logistic depot at Tokorozawa. The Army is reducing its labor force in Japan in connection with the withdrawal of troops now in the works.

The workers, seeking another day's employment to qualify for dismissal benefits as "permanent workers," claimed that they were told Oct. 2 they would be re-employed but that the order was rescinded the same day.

Col. B. Abrams of Fusan, Tex., the base commander, said they could not be taken back unless other Japanese workers were dismissed.

The Army said after Oglesby and Nebela explained the situation to the crowd, the Americans tried to leave but were stopped. The crowd demanded that Abrams come to the office, and then that it be allowed to see him at his office. Both requests were refused.

Panel Of 125 Jurors Called For Spy Trial

NEW YORK — A panel of 125 prospective jurors was called into federal court in Brooklyn today for the start of the trial of Col. Rudolph Ivanovich Abel, alleged Soviet master spy.

Judge Mortimer W. Byers said he planned to impanel a jury and then await the pleasure of government and defense counsel for the presentation of their opening statements.

The defense sought unsuccessfully yesterday to get a stay of the trial from Judge J. Edward Lumbard of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Manhattan.

James B. Donovan, court-appointed lawyer for Abel, 53-year-old member of the Soviet secret police, argued that he was not ready to present an adequate defense.

Abel, nabbed by the FBI after an extensive investigation, was indicted Aug. 7 on charges of conspiring to transmit U. S. defense secrets to Russia.

Gold-Carrying Lebanese Airliner Crashes; 29 Die

BEIRUT, Lebanon — A gold-carrying Lebanese airliner line said the others aboard were crashed in flames into the Mediterranean off Beirut today, killing 29 persons aboard. The pilot, the aircraft was carrying 13 boxes of gold for the Kuwait government.

Witnesses said the plane burst into flames a few minutes after it took off from Beirut's International Airport. They estimated it had reached an altitude of 4,000 feet and was about 11 miles out to sea.

Disservice To His City, State Cited

President Also Sees Two Avenues Of Hope For Troop Withdrawal

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower described Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas today as a mistaken man doing a disservice to his city and state. The president also said he sees two avenues of hope for pulling troops out of Little Rock.

In response to news conference questions, Eisenhower said two different situations could justify withdrawal of the troops now being used to enforce racial integration at Little Rock's Central High.

1. The giving of unequivocal assurances that the U. S. District Court integration order will not be obstructed and that peace and order will be maintained.

Local Police Control

2. An actual, factual development of peaceful conditions to the extent that local police could control the situation.

Eisenhower noted further that a committee of four Southern governors still is seeking a solution.

The integration-traps issue was the dominating subject at the President's news conference. Only now and then did questions and answers diverge to other subjects.

One reporter asked whether Eisenhower feels that Faubus "really" wants to put an end to the problem in Little Rock.

Won't Interpret Motives

The President said he wouldn't want to answer that as he never tries to interpret motives of persons with whom he disagrees. He said he simply believes that Faubus is mistaken in what he is doing and is doing a disservice to his city and his state.

Eisenhower declined to go beyond the Little Rock crisis to say whether his public pledges to support all measures necessary to uphold the courts meant that he would use troops to enforce integration elsewhere.

He said he didn't want to get into hypothetical questions, and that each case is different.

Court Must Be Sustained

But Eisenhower said court decisions must be sustained or this is not America.

He also said that no one deplores use of troops more than he does. This, Eisenhower said, is not really the American way except as it becomes necessary in the support of institutions vital to this country.

The courts, Eisenhower said, are not here just to enforce integration. He said they are the bulwark, the shield against autocratic government.

If they can be defied in one respect, he went on, they can in all others and the result would be chaos or anarchy.

It was 15 minutes before the 30-minute news conference got around to any other topic. Then it covered such subjects as:

TEAMSTERS — Eisenhower said federal agencies were alerted long ago to corruption which has been revealed in the union. He said this was with a view to seeing whether any action could be taken beyond legislative steps already prepared.

New York Hit By Asian Flu

NEW YORK — (INS) — Health and school officials rushed emergency measures to combat an outbreak of Asian flu that has been branded an "epidemic."

They urged New Yorkers to remain calm and take precautions against exposure to the ailment. Acting city Health Commissioner Roscoe Kandle has reported to Mayor Robert F. Wagner that the predicted Asian flu epidemic has hit the nation's largest city.

He said that "large numbers of people are now being attacked" by a mild form of Asian flu. He said "the disease is behaving as anticipated. It is mild, the fever lasting about 48 hours."

Dulles, Gromyko Confer Saturday

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON—(AP)—Secretary of State Dulles will meet with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko here Saturday for a far-ranging discussion of world affairs. Disarmament may provide one subject, but the talks are expected to focus primarily on the tense situation in the Middle East.

Dulles may take the opportunity to tell the top Soviet diplomat directly and forcefully that the United States intends to do everything possible to prevent the spread of Soviet power and influence in the Middle East.

It also is expected to urge the Soviet leadership that big power negotiations on disarmament be continued.

Disarmament talks broke down in London in September, but discussion was switched to the U.N. General Assembly. The Western nations hope it can be resumed next year.

Announcement of the Dulles-Gromyko meeting, made by the State Department late yesterday, comes at a time when Dulles plans for dealing with the Soviet expansion in the Middle East through the United Nations and through friendly Arab states, appear to be in trouble.

Splits With U. S.

The trouble arises from the fact Saudi Arabia, itself anti-Communist and very friendly to this country, has split with the United States on several vital points of policy.

The Saudi Arabian policy declaration was made to the General Assembly in New York yesterday by King Saud's minister of state, Ahmad Shukairy.

Opposing Dulles' urging that the U.N. "consider and discuss" the situation resulting from Soviet arms shipments to Syria, Shukairy said: "This is no matter that could be seized by the Assembly," and added: "We shall resist any attempt to interfere in the affairs of Syria."

He contended Syria's Arab neighbors are not threatened by Russian arms shipments, and said, "It is the policy of the West that is destroying ties with the Arabs."

Most Of U. S. Has Fair Day

By The Associated Press

It was cool and wet in the Northwestern part of the country and more showers fell in the Southeast but mostly pleasant weather prevailed in other sections today.

Fair weather was the outlook for the second game of the World Series in New York.

Considerably cooler air moved southward across Northwestern areas and temperatures were 10 to 15 degrees lower than yesterday morning. Scattered showers and cloudy skies moved in with the cooler breezes in Montana and westward to coastal areas of Washington and Oregon.

Snow fell in the northern Rockies, with freezing temperatures at Mullen Pass, Idaho.

Defense Chief Leaving Post; Given Review

Military Salutes Wilson Who Stayed In Post 4 1/2 Years

WASHINGTON (AP)—The armed forces mustered their crack marching units today for a farewell salute to Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson, their boss for more than 4 1/2 years, at nearby Ft. Myer, Va.

The 67-year-old defense chief will step out next Wednesday after serving at the Pentagon post longer than any of his predecessors. He will be succeeded by Neil McElroy, Cincinnati soap manufacturer.

At his final news conference yesterday, Wilson—who has been embroiled in a number of controversies stemming mostly from his peppy remarks—told reporters: "I don't hate anybody. If I have any enemies, it is of their choosing, not mine."

Generally light-hearted, although his 80th—and last—Pentagon news conference was generally in a light-hearted vein, Wilson touched on several matters that bulk large in national importance.

He pronounced the United States "after today than it was when I came to the Pentagon," attributing this to "our better equipment and better military organization."

Ordered Outback Wilson had ordered last August that advance payments on partially completed work for all the services be cut back as one means of reducing the spending rate. He commented yesterday that he did not think the Air Force order would hurt aircraft manufacturers as badly as some feared.

But in Seattle, the Boeing Airplane Co. termed the order "serious," and said it may slow down production. The company makes B52 bombers and KC135 tankers.

Wilson conceded some companies would have to lay off workers.

Knowland Set To Announce Governor Bid

Political Significance Of Move Seen Ending In White House Race

SACRAMENTO, Calif.—(INS)—William Fife Knowland, the retiring GOP leader in the U. S. Senate, is expected to formally announce today that he will run for California's governorship in 1958.

When Knowland confirms—in a new conference across the street from the state capital—that everyone has been led to believe, he will have pushed into high gear the race between himself and incumbent Goodwin J. Knight, a race which began a month ago when Knowland began to barnstorm scores of California cities and towns.

Today's announcement has national significance. It is widely conceded both in California and in Washington that the politically-ambitious Knowland intends to attempt a jump of nearly 3,000 miles in 1958—from the executive mansion in Sacramento to the White House in the District of Columbia.

But, should the 49-year-old assistant publisher (his father is publisher) of the Oakland Tribune declare himself and then lose the gubernatorial nomination in next June's primary, he will probably have become a political has-been.

Caught Red-Handed

DETROIT—(INS)—Judge Elvin Davenport has ordered Lawrence M. Misch Jr., of Detroit, to serve 90 days for setting a false fire alarm.

Police said Misch was caught red-handed. The alarm box had just been painted.

OUR COUNTRY

The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union for ever.—Morris.

A New Sign

WHEN A COUNTRY like Syria moves close to the Soviet orbit, the alarms go up and there is much said headshaking over Russia's new foreign encroachments. Last sight of, oddly, is the fact that internally Russia is undergoing economic and political stress of the gravest nature. On the political front, Parly Boss Khrushchev, who emerged victorious from the leadership struggle in June which saw the ouster of Molotov and Malenkov, is said to be still in trouble. The contest for power is not over, and it is likely another crucial phase lies ahead. Economically, the Soviet Union has been in mounting difficulties for a long time. One great evidence this year was the Kremlin's decision to decentralize management of the government's industrial programs—an acknowledgment that the great central bureaucracy in Moscow was failing.

NOW COMES another portentous sign. Russia has been advancing its economic development through successive five-year plans ever since 1929. Just 21 months ago it set in motion the sixth of these. But the sixth plan has not worked well. The astonishing decision has been made to scrap it by the end of 1958. It will be replaced by a new seven-year plan, first of its kind. And while the Kremlin naturally seeks to put a positive face on this change, the evident truth is that it reflects still greater trouble in the Communist economy. The sixth five-year plan called for huge increases in heavy industrial output, higher factory productivity, and both bigger yields and larger total production on the nation's farms. These goals are not being achieved.

THE KREMLIN tries to say the plan is being scrapped because new elements have entered the picture—new raw material deposits, new synthetics. But those who know the Soviet Union well say that the really vital new element, the one Moscow did not foresee, is failure. There seems to be many reasons for that failure: after effects of the Hungarian revolt and unrest in other satellites; drought and a bad grain harvest this year; the awesome burden of the armaments race. All these things suggest that the Soviet Union, for all its menace to the world, is not the great, efficient impersonal colossus many imagine it to be. Like every other nation, it is made up of human beings capable of failure. Right now the Russians appear to be making use of that capability rather freely.

AN INTERVIEWER recently asked Adlai Stevenson if he would like to run for the presidency a third time. That's a bit like asking a man who has just had an ulcer and a migraine headache how he would like a nice case of measles.

Autos Are Safer

PUBLIC DEMAND for greater safety in automobile construction is at last beginning to be felt in Detroit. Some of the findings of research on auto accidents are being incorporated into design, and the result is a notable drop in the number and seriousness of injuries. The big dividing line, as far as auto safety is concerned, came in 1956. A number of 1956 models were equipped with safety door locks, safety belts, padded instrument panels and steering wheels designed not to crush or pierce the driver in the event of a crash. Enough of those 1956 models have now been involved in accidents to give researchers a good idea of the effectiveness of the new safety features. According to John O. Moore, director of Cornell University's crash injury research project, the results are most encouraging. Moore also believes that automotive engineers, now fully conscious of the public yen for greater auto safety, will add numerous improvements in models to come. This welcome change in emphasis was long overdue. Each year, the products of Detroit are heavier, more powerful, faster. This, plus the important additional fact that more and more cars are swarming over our streets and highways, makes safety engineering not only desirable but absolutely necessary. Though a start has been made, the ideally safe automobile is still a thing of the future.

Rockefeller May Figure In Arkansas Case

WASHINGTON—Southern Governors who hope to achieve an accommodation with President Eisenhower on the Little Rock crisis are trying to reach the man who has been described as "better for Arkansas than 20 years of good cotton crops."

He is Winthrop Rockefeller, fourth son of John D. Jr., who adopted Arkansas as his home and favorite economic project following his World War II service.

His residence there, Winrock, is on Pell Jean Mountain near Little Rock, the organization through which he has attempted to bring industry to the state and raise its living standards is the Arkansas Resources and Development Commission.

ALL THAT is presently known about Rockefeller's attitude in the crisis came from responsible sources which have worked closely with him in Little Rock.

They disclosed that Governor Orval Faubus notified him a day in advance that the National Guard would be called out to prevent Negro students from entering Central High School and that Rockefeller tried vainly for an hour and a half to persuade the Governor not to do it.

After that Rockefeller departed the scene and is understood to be in New York. Aides of the Southern Governors were seeking him there as the Governors converged on Washington for their meeting with the President.

TO LITTLE ROCK associates, Rockefeller said he had tried to be helpful and failed and that he did not want to be in the position of appearing to fan the flames of conflict by discussion of his views. Certainly had he remained in the vicinity he would have been sought out by visiting reporters, in view of his immense importance to the area.

He may still find himself, even if he dodges the Governors, on the receiving end of pointed questions. Weeks ago, before the Little Rock affair, he agreed to be interviewed by Ed Murrow on Person To Person Friday October 4. Murrow says that the interview is still scheduled to take place at Winrock and that no holds have been barred.

THE SPECIAL interest of a Rockefeller would be important economically to any state. Winthrop Rockefeller's potential role in Arkansas is perhaps best described by natives of the state when they say: "Thank heaven for Mississippi, or we'd be at the tail end of the 48 states in educational opportunity and per capita income."

These drawbacks were reflected in the 1950 census, which showed the state losing so much population it also lost one of its seven members of the House of Representatives. Present projections of the 1960 census indicate that there is worse to come. It is expected then that Arkansas will lose another two House members.

Only two other states will be so hard hit: Massachusetts and Pennsylvania. But where Arkansas will be reduced to four House seats, Massachusetts will still have 12 and Pennsylvania 28.

THESE HARSH economic facts are not likely to weigh with the mobs which gathered outside Central High School. But it is felt by those who would like to see Rockefeller work on the problem that they would certainly be effective with the solid citizens and business leaders of the state.

Some Southerners feel too that a Rockefeller might be able to influence the President to go a little easier on Governor Faubus.

The President has been described as bitterly angry with Faubus and not at all inclined to help save the Faubus face.

Yet the Southern Governors believe that some face-saving for Faubus must be part of any settlement.

Molotov's New Job Demands Diplomacy

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A minority view among Russian experts in Washington is that the appointment of Russia's ex-Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov as ambassador to Mongolia is by no means the complete exile it has been pictured.

Attention is called to the many predictions of an ultimate conflict between Soviet Russia and Red China for dominance in the world Communist movement. In any such conflict, Mongolia would be the battleground.

It is an area six times as big as Texas, though its population is only a million. It was carved out of the old Chinese empire and set up as a people's republic under Russian domination. If anybody could make this vast buffer state solidly Russian, it would be Molotov. It is on this basis that predictions are now made that he has not been banished into oblivion and that more will be heard from him later. For in his 40 years as a Bolshevik he has survived many purges and come back smiling.

SECRETARY of State John Foster Dulles has declared, "I have never seen such personal diplomatic skill at so high a degree of perfection as Mr. Molotov's."

He has been blamed for having done more to shape international affairs for a quarter of the 20th century than any one man. The list of his accomplishments tells the story. He is the all-time master of the double-cross.

It is generally forgotten, but Molotov was Russia's premier for eight years. In this period Russia won recognition from the United States. Molotov gave pledges to stop all Communist interference in U.S. domestic affairs. They were never kept.

When Communist Party Secretary General Joseph Stalin took the premiership for himself, he made Molotov foreign minister. He immediately negotiated the Russian-German nonaggression pact. This gave Russia the Baltic states and half of Poland.

MOLOTOV double-crossed Finland in the short war. He demanded for Russia the Dardanelles, Iran and north Sakhalin. His aggressiveness led Hitler to double-cross and attack Russia. The agile Molotov immediately made a pact with Great Britain against Hitler. Molotov came to the U.S. in early 1942 and secured an increase in lend-lease aid.

At the end of the war Molotov headed the Russian delegation to the U.N. charter conference in San Francisco. It was there he began his stalling, obstructionist "nyet" tactics.

In the futile series of Big Four foreign ministers' meetings from 1945 to 1949, Molotov was chief Russian negotiator. His refusal to compromise on a single point won him such nicknames as old stone bottom, iron pants, slab face, the human rohol.

In 1947 he turned down Russian cooperation with the Marshall Plan and forced Czechoslovakia and Poland to withdraw.

BUT HE HAD some failures, too. He was thwarted in Greece and Turkey by the Truman Doctrine. He was thwarted by Tito's defection of Yugoslavia from the Soviet bloc.

Blockade of Berlin, aimed to bring that city under Russian control, was broken by the Berlin airlift.

Molotov was replaced as foreign minister by Andrei Vishinsky in March, 1949, but he is credited with having continued to play a major role in Soviet foreign policy.

He is reported to have masterminded the Korean War. He went to China and brought that country to North Korea's rescue. When Stalin died in 1953, Molotov again became foreign minister. His major effort became the blocking of reunification of East and West Germany. He broke up the European Defense Community, but failed to prevent West Germany's rearmament in NATO.

Soviet decisions to conclude an Austrian peace treaty, to launch the new "Geneva spirit" and to make peace with Tito were over Molotov's objections.

He was leader in the unsuccessful move to oust Nikita Khrushchev from the Russian leadership and to restore Stalinist policies. But his usefulness to international communism is by no means considered at an end, just because he has been sent 6,000 miles east of Moscow, to Mongolia's capital in Ulan Bator.

NEW YORK — There was a time, until something more than a year ago, when collectors of New York — and the world — had two places to go to acquire memorabilia of old Manhattan and the theatre.

An aging man named Burton had a stuffed and wilder nest at 53rd Street and Sixth Avenue to corner now practically nothing more than a parking lot) and A. L. Brandon had an equally stuffed and formidable assembly at Lexington Avenue between 84th and 85th Streets. Burton is now dead and his collection dispersed.

Brandon is now the haven for wise and knowing collectors of old posters, old maps, old books, old valentines and old oddments of a more gracious New York.

WALKING along Lexington Avenue, the other lowering afternoon, I came athwart the Brandon place and could not resist going in and tumbling through his vast assortment. Posters of Lillian Russell, of old melodramas, programs, photographs, autographs, keepsakes, old dance cards, the works.

There always were two differences between Burton and Brandon: Burton's place was an unruly hodge-podge, Brandon's only seemed unruly. Actually he always knows where everything is. Secondly, old man Burton used to love to drop famous names. Jean Fontaine just came in and bought a poster, Brian Aherne only just left after acquiring a rare tinset for his collection. Howard Lindsay had just ordered a rare book on the theatre and Oscar Serlin only an hour since had added to his great theatre collection. Brandon won't give you one name. Not one.

"I think my clients have a right to privacy," he said. "I certainly have no right to speak of their purchases."

HE'S PROBABLY right. But I know that towering and glittering names in the theatre, films and old New York go there daily to pluck over his collection and, hopefully, extract a treasure. I've seen names worth dropping in there and I know he looks out for special items for them.

Brandon always went in for special items. He has a woman

In Portugal who makes tiny shadow boxes with fully-dressed couples and beautifully set scenes.

He has a brilliant artist, not to be identified until you make a purchase, who, as a hobby on the side, creates miniature Victorian rooms and stage sets, completely furnished, painted, carpeted and draped. These are rare and fascinating objects.

An enchanting item just in from him is a miniature of the first act of "Mlle. Modiste," the millinery shop scene. The late David Belasco would have gone out of his mind to own it.

OF GREAT historical value is a collection not for sale. It is Brandon's personal collection of the Christmas tree ornaments of the late Emperor Franz Joseph of Austria.

These were intricate little objects of lace, ribbons and gilt, with a tiny portrait of the Emperor in a gilt frame on the front, and a single chocolate bonbon, wrapped in either gold or silver foil, on the back. Each Christmas guests invited to the court were allowed to take one of these, eat the candy and keep the ornament.

Some of Brandon's, about half, still have the long dried and hardened hanson intact. Last Christmas he decorated a small white tree with them and put it in his window with an explicit sign: "These ornaments from the personal collection of the Emperor Franz Joseph are not for sale." People stormed the place trying to buy them. No sale.

HIS OLD valentine collection includes sheets of gilt and silver gilded designs with which an artful person can make his or her own modern duplicate of an old valentine.

He did have a large collection of old dance programs, complete with intricate and fanciful favors for the ladies at the balls, but a man with a serious hunger for collecting and money to implement it, came in and took the lot.

This is old New York in all its facets in one place. It should be seen. But allow yourself at least an hour.

Another Old Car Passes

WASHINGTON — It pains me to note the passing of two more famous automobiles, the Hudson and the Nash.

When I was an automotive expert, aged 16 (and that was a long time ago), Nash was a new nameplate for an honored motor car, the Jeffries Six. Nashes never caught my favor then, mostly because they struck me as having been designed for old folks.

Some years later the Nash management came to the astounding conclusion that wheels, per se, were indecent. The designers actually enclosed all the wheels, both front and rear, in modest pants of tin.

THIS MADE Nashes look silly; it also made them exceedingly difficult to negotiate in U-turns because the tin got in the way of the wheels.

When Nash and Hudson merged into the American Motors Corporation, president George Romney quickly got rid of the pants and put the wheels back on public view, but apparently he was too late. Romney's Ramblers did fine, but buyers of Nashes were hard to find.

So for 1958 Romney is abandoning the Nash escutcheon. He's also doing away with the Hudson, and this almost makes me weep.

IN 1921 I talked myself blue, trying to persuade my father to buy a Hudson Super Six. There was an automobile. Remember the big white triangle on the radiator? The long, slinky touring car body and the mighty engine which was so adjusted that you could hear the air hissing into the carburetor when it passed by?

I tell you, a Hudson Super Six could travel 75 miles an hour. This was a good deal better than a mile a minute. To my own grave disappointment, the older Othman said that was the trouble with the Hudson. Too powerful. He said who ever heard of an automobile needing 65 horsepower?

So he bought an Auburn Beauty Six, which turned up 50 horsepower and which I never could get to rolling faster than 60 miles an hour, even downhill.

THIS CAR was painted a deep maroon, which soon turned spotty; my father told me to get it repainted. He didn't say what color. I did my best to give him a sporty-looking automobile and almost got disowned for my efforts; I had that Auburn painted mustard color, and it was the liveliest-looking car in St. Louis. But it wasn't any Hudson.

The Hudson Super Six eventually became a straight-eight and then a V-8, and soon after the second World War came the Hudson Hornet, which probably was the hottest car on the road. I wanted

NEW YORK — Mike Wallace, the gent who perfected the art of putting people on hot seats under cold lights, has entirely too many followers. Not only followers, in fact, but mimics.

His TV show—in which he asks leading questions while the camera glues itself on a guest's multiple chin and each expression on the intensely wary face above it—has started a new fad for personal, psychological grilling.

There is a growing tendency for fans of Mr. Wallace to copy his technique in every day dealings.

Thus, when a man nowadays asks "what are you doing tonight?" he does not necessarily want a date; he wants data on what kind of girl you are after five.

Everything is sneaky, psychological prying these days.

WALLACE, A VERY lovable fellow off-screen, was not the first to belt people with crumpling questions, of course, but his show got down to everyman's emotional level. Before his time, there were the Senate crime hearings and the dozens of panel-grill shows, but they generally dealt with persons with whom the public had no real sense of rapport.

Then along came Mike to dissect movie stars, showgirls and hams in every class of life, and to find out—let's face it—the worst about them in the briefest possible period. In trying to dismantle them and ascertain what makes them tick, he bombarded them with tricky, quick-changing queries—that would do justice to a DA at a murder trial.

But lately the technique is becoming so widespread, both in so-called entertainment circles and in personal dealings, that it's got me wearing a frozen smile most of the time for fear some probing pal will discern that I really despise roaches. He would, of course, demand to know why—and goodness knows how my reputation would come out of it all.

I WAS DISCUSSING the Wallace system the other day with Arthur Van Horn, newsman and interviewer for WABC, a friend of both Mike's and mine.

After 15 years of interviewing people, he has now developed a new system—to suit a harassed world. He keeps his voice soothing, his questions unburied, and he would as soon bite a sponsor as interrupt an interviewee in the middle of a sentence.

Van Horn's theory: A person usually will confide in an interviewer he trusts; a person invariably will hide the truth from an interviewer who frightens or offends him.

It seems to work out, too. On his daily "midday composite" radio show, Van Horn has wrung more truths, tears and secrets from old movie stars and dignitaries by remaining gently silent, than most hard-hammerers have by tenacious attack.

So out with the national inquisition, the loud tugging at the closet door with a possible skeleton in it. Try a little tenderness and who knows how many bees in bonnets you'll catch.

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON—There must be a touch of the self-tormentor in me, because I spent part of my vacation rereading some of my old columns. This is not recommended recreation for anyone who likes to think he used to be quite a fellow because the vintage columns reveal beyond peradventure that he used to be little short of a blithering ass.

I was dismayed to read how many fundamentals I used to be wrong about. People and policies I thought were great, or that I accepted unthinkingly. I wouldn't give house room to now.

Conversely, people I thought were dangerous radicals now seem to me to be just plain commonsensical. Which makes me wonder whether the next generation will be able to understand what all the 1957 integration bitterness was about.

I covered the Democratic national convention in 1948, and reported from Philadelphia that a lot of the big Democratic leaders were trying to recruit General Dwight D. Eisenhower as their standard bearer because they were convinced they'd be dead with Harry S. Truman.

AT THAT TIME I didn't know much about Gen. Eisenhower, except militarily. Naturally, I didn't know whether he was a Democrat or a Republican because he'd never seen fit to declare himself. But, so help me, I didn't even know if he played golf.

Nevertheless—as my musty and stale-smelling old scrapbook bears irrefutable witness—I sat down in a back room of the Philadelphia Pen & Pencil Club and wrote: "The Democratic leaders are putting up a howl that they want General Eisenhower. They are starting a clamor to draft him here. But if I were the distinguished warrior I would not be at all flattered by the clanging of these Democratic leaders. It sounds too much like the yowling of desperation."

To my perhaps improperly-attuned ear, it is as if these long-time yowlers at the public trough were really gibbering: "Look, we've got to save our graft any way we can. We'll take anybody—even Eisenhower." They profess to believe that Gen. Ike is the only man to handle the issues of the day. Yet they admit they have no notion of how Eisenhower stands on a single one of these issues.

"FOR ALL ANY Democratic Ike-yelper knows to the contrary, the General may be a Republican; a civil righter; and a tool of Wall Street."

"He might—for all he has ever said one way or the other—be in favor of increasing taxes and the public debt; outdoing both Roosevelt and Truman on foreign aid; and turning the White House lawn into a pitch-and-pull course."

"The Democrats who say they want Ike do not know what opinions he has on foreign policy, if any. Apparently it has never occurred to them to ask him. So far as Ike is concerned they seemed to be like the fellow who got married after a whirlwind courtship and returned to his bride's arms one night to find them encircled by writhing serpents. She confessed that she was a circus snake charmer. When he demanded to know why she hadn't told him, she replied: 'You didn't ask me.'"

"If you want my considered opinion, Ike is only having a mild flirtation with his Democratic wavers. He's like the girl who loves to be courted for the sake of popularity, but knows she will never marry the guy."

"If you had been wrong as many times as I have down the years, you'd want to boast of your one prophet triumph too, so bear with me for this once. I now solemnly swear I had done with reminiscence."

Mizpah Class Holds Election, Sends Cards

The Mizpah Bible Class of the First Baptist Church met a recent evening at the home of Mrs. James Ruppert on Bedford Road. Miss Marie Williams was in charge of the devotion "Kingdom of Righteousness" with selected readings and answers, with each one taking part. The program was closed with prayer offered by Mrs. William Shealy.

Mrs. O. J. Mortzfeldt presided with a short business session. Roll Call was answered with a verse of scripture beginning with the letter "S". Cards are to be sent to the sick and shut-ins also to Mrs. Wilma Alderton a former member who has moved to Texas and signed by each member. It was decided to pack two boxes of food for two families.

Miss Williams gave the report on the Nominating Committee and the officers were installed by Mrs. William Shealy as follows: Mrs. Henry T. Humphreys, president; Mrs. O. J. Mortzfeldt, vice president; Mrs. James Althey, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Wood Hamilton, secretary; Mrs. James Ruppert, assistant secretary; Miss Elizabeth McCullough, treasurer; Mrs. Thomas Darr, personal service; Miss Williams, assistant personal service; Mrs. H. R. Madlick, teacher; and Mrs. Kenneth Rogers, assistant teacher. The meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. H. R. Madlick.

A social hour followed and the hostess served refreshments. Others attending were Mrs. Madlick, Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. Thomas Darr, Mrs. Harvey Wilson, Mrs. S. C. Morris, Mrs. Paul Bell, Mrs. James Althey, Mrs. W. W. Young, Mrs. Wood Hamilton, Mrs. O. J. Mortzfeldt, Mrs. Wilma Shealy, Misses Elizabeth McCullough, Marie Williams and Sherry Hamilton, Rev. A. C. Prayle, O. J. Mortzfeldt, W. W. Young, S. C. Morris, and James Ruppert.

Mt. Tabor WSCS Plans Packages For Missionaries

At a recent meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of Mount Tabor Methodist Church plans were made for sending packages of bandages to Pearl Willis Jones, missionary, and packages of miscellaneous articles to Elston Rowland, missionary in the Philippines. Kindergarten packages are to be made up and sent to the Baltimore Parish for Christmas.

Mrs. William Heileck presided at the meeting and Mrs. Foster Smith led the devotionals. Mrs. Marie Beckley stressed the need of packages to be sent to the missionaries.

Mrs. John W. Davis completed the study course on St. Paul's Letters. The group also planned to make applebutter in October. Twenty-seven members were present. A grab bag sale was held after the business meeting. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ralph Hoover, Mrs. Condy Miller, and Mrs. Russell Shippe.

Mr. Mrs. Feigus Winners Of Special Game

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Feigus were the winners of the special game played by the Potomac Valley Bridge Club Tuesday night at the Woman's Civic Club House.

First place winners north-south with a score of 102 were Mrs. William Snyder and Mrs. Joseph Kuepp; second were Mrs. Harvey Aaronson and Thomas Hanson; third, Miss Rose Jackson, and Mrs. Irving Parrisher, east-west winners and top pair in the field were Mr. and Mrs. Feigus; second, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Green of Frostburg; third, Miss Julia Jackson and Mrs. Morris Barnes.

Today at 8 p. m. the semi-monthly full master point game of the Western Maryland Bridge Association will be played at the Cumberland Country Club.

The Cumberland Duplicate Bridge Club's monthly full master point game, scheduled for Saturday has been postponed until October 19 because of the Jewish Holy days.

The Woman's Guild of Holy Cross Episcopal Church will meet in the parish hall Friday at 7:30 p. m.

General Duty Nurses Section Planned

District I of the Maryland State Nurses Association made plans for organizing a General Duty Nurses Section in the district at a meeting in the nurses home of Sacred Heart Hospital School of Nursing.

Miss Christine J. Williams presided and announced that for the first time courtesy American Nurse Association membership cards were presented to the 1957 graduates of both hospital schools of nursing. Mrs. Mary Seiler gave a general resume of the functions, qualifications and standards of the General Duty Nurses Section.

For the first time three members of District I are on the 1958 state ballot. They are Miss J. Ann Mathews, Miss Mary Margaret Lynch and Miss Mary Margaret King. Also for the first time the chairman of the nominating committee was from Western Maryland. Mrs. Mary Bartlett is chairman.

The invocation was by Sister Theodore. Routine reports were given by Miss Lynch, who also read an evaluation report of the Disaster Nurses Workshop. A course in disaster nursing is to begin October 9. The group also discussed sending delegates from both Memorial and Sacred Heart schools of nursing to the Maryland State Nurses Association convention to be held October 23, 24 and 25. All members were urged to return their convention ballots as soon as possible.

Miss Williams and Miss Lynch are attending the Nurses Cancer Conference being held today at the Emerson Hotel, Baltimore. It is sponsored by the Maryland Division of the Cancer Society.

Bedford Road Homemakers Elect At Luncheon Meeting

The Bedford Road Homemakers Club elected a president and treasurer and featured demonstrations at its luncheon meeting Tuesday at Zion Methodist Church.

Hostesses for the luncheon were Mrs. Robert Street, Mrs. Lamar Lemmert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wentling Mrs. Earl Heavner and Oren Lemmert, of Frostburg. Mrs. Paul Gilford, covers were laid for 20 members and a guest, performed in the Presbyterian Church, Silver Spring, with Rev. North Cumberland Homemakers Tracy Boyer officiating.

Club, who gave a demonstration in knitting.

Mrs. Paul Gilford presided and read the revised constitution and by-laws. Roll call was answered to "What feature of fall fashions appeals most to you?"

County Unit Urges Hiring Handicapped

Area To Observe National Program To Aid Handicapped

Allegany County will observe "National Employ The Physically Handicapped Week" next week, according to Earl D. Chaney, chairman of the county segment of the Governor's Committee to Promote Employment of the Physically Handicapped.

With the cooperation of the Cumberland office of the State of Maryland Department of Employment Security, letters are being mailed this week to all businesses, employers and churches urging their cooperation in the observance October 6 through 12.

The letters point out that this period has been set aside so that national attention can be brought to bear on a serious employment problem in the inability of many partially handicapped persons to obtain work and a means of supporting themselves and their families.

Clergy members are asked to include in their religious announcements and programs this Sunday special mention of the weekly observance. They also are urged to use church publications to include comment regarding the employment of the physically handicapped.

The letters to employers also note that most jobs do not require the worker's total physical capacity. Many handicapped persons, properly placed, can produce increased production, improve morale, reduce absenteeism and help safety records, the letters state.

The employers are urged to re-examine their operations and to employ handicapped persons in self-supporting jobs. Mr. Chaney said. Further information can be obtained at the Department of Employment Security office on North Mechanic Street or at the vocational rehabilitation office in the County Building on Union Street.

Meanwhile, Francis A. Kenney, manager of the local office of the Department of Employment Security, said that of 2,235 applications for jobs on hand here, 137 are applicants with occupational handicaps.

These include 53 war veterans and 13 women. In the past month, Mr. Kenney said, his department has placed five physically handicapped persons in jobs in Allegany County, including two veterans.

During September, he said, the DES office contacted 56 employers seeking job openings for the physically handicapped person.

The Mayor and City Council of Cumberland will be asked to issue a proclamation for observance of the program next week.

See Appointed To National Unit

State Senator Charles M. See has been appointed to the legislative committee of the American Association of Workers for the Blind.

Sen. See's appointment was received here yesterday and was made by Huier C. Walker, president. Walker also serves as a legislative analyst for the American Association of Workers for the Blind.

Sen. See will serve as vice president of the committee whose purpose is to see that legislation is enacted to help the blind throughout the nation.

The committee meets periodically to talk over legislation on a national scale and proposes legislation to be considered by Congress.

Local Methodist Group Elects Officers At Meet

The Cumberland Subdistrict of the Hagerstown District of Methodist Church elected officers at a meeting Monday in Ridgeley.

Rev. Louis L. Emerick of Union Grove Methodist Church was elected president.

Other officers elected are Rev. Everett Culp, vice president; Rev. William Anderson, secretary, and Rev. Raymond Crowe, treasurer.

Mrs. Culp presided at the meeting of the wives and Rev. W. W. Patterson at the meeting of the preachers.

Popular "Get-Acquainted" Plan Resumed

The local office of Aetna Finance Co. is again offering worthy persons $50 on name only for 30 days; the total cost is only $3.50. Post, while-you-wait service is offered. Persons needing extra cash fill pay day or for other expenses are invited. Other loans up to $1,500, also available. Call or see Aetna, 48 N. Centre St. Dial PA 4-8600. (Loans over $500 made under Md. Industrial Finance Act.)

Expansion C&P Lines Starts Soon

Work on the trunk lines to increase the number of telephone circuits from Cumberland to nearby exchanges will begin next month, according to Robert G. Garner, local manager of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company.

The board of directors of the Maryland company allocated $45,000 for the expansion of service in a meeting in August, and work will start in November at the central office on South Centre Street.

Garner stated plans call for new equipment to be installed that will provide for 145 incoming trunks and 142 outgoing trunks.

The two-month period covering the allocation of the funds and the actual work is needed to draw up plans and blueprints and to secure the necessary material and equipment to do the job, Garner explained.

The work will be done by the Western Electric Company and Garner added that the expenditure for the additional service is a part of the normal growth and is not a part of the announcement of the recent proposal for a wider range calling planned for this area.

In addition to the $1,011,000 of which the local funds were a part, the board of directors Tuesday approved expenditures of an additional $7,099,000 for improvements in telephone service throughout the state.

The largest single amount, $5,193,300, was authorized to construct and rebuild telephone facilities required for a number of small projects throughout Maryland.

Other funds will be used to change over to dial in the communities of Hagerstown, Ocean City and Charles County.

A portion of the allocation will be used to provide the fast-growing communities surrounding Baltimore with telephone service and for additional circuits to connect Baltimore City with the eastern shore.

Winchell Clicks; New Writer In Initial Show

By JACK O'BRIEN

NEW YORK—(INS)—Considerably subdued from his last try at TV, and far better off for it, Walter Winchell returned to television last night with an exceptionally good, well-written "The Walter Winchell File" (The Walter Winchell File) leaning heavily on the veteran night-owl's nocturnal crime-chasing through the years.

The premiere had a good-ly tale to tell, fictional but full of the best authentic Manhattan melodramatic grace notes Winchell knows from long personal experience.

Armstrong Circle Theatre had its seasonal premiere last night dramatizing the recent important biblical discoveries of the Dead Sea Scrolls.

It was a quietly fascinating dramatization by Irvin Tunnick.

Another good show.

Of course, the best TV show of the day, or year, was the World Series.

Yesterday there seemed too many violent variations in colors as the color-TV cameras switched about. Some of the shots were remarkably sharp and exciting, but others, particularly as shadows sneaked into the picture, looked things up more than somewhat. Switching to black-and-white helped occasionally.

Don Ameche was signed for the General Motors special, and NBC's also trying for Kirk Douglas.

Old pro Tommy Henrich (ex-Yankee ball player) joined the mutual network as a sports speaker.

Wagon Train last night was a very well-done western.

ABC-TV's daytime version of "Do You Trust Your Wife" has even less to it than was displayed in its last canceled night time slot, and Johnny Carson seems to give it a chilly offhandedness which doesn't help.

"Ozzie and Harriet" returned last night for another ABC-TV season in the same clean, fresh, fondly amusing groove.

They are the nicest family on TV.

The Paul Whiteman gambit on The Big Record had sparkle.

Bert Lahr stars in the big Standard Oil 75th anniversary special a week from Sunday.

That night (Oct. 13) TV gets $1,400,000 worth of TV spectaculars in three CBS shows: the big Edsel show starring Bing, Sinatra, Cleopatra, Satchmo, etc.; "Pinocchio," also an Edsel show, with Mickey Rooney, Walter Slezak, Fran Allison; and the Standard Oil hoopla, with Lahr, Tyrone Power, Duran, Marge and Gower Champion, Jane Powell, etc.

Cary Grant probably will emcee the Oscar awards on TV, good.

The Jewish Welfare Fund board will meet today at 8:15 p. m. in R' Chayim vestry room, according to Robert Goldfine.

It will be the last meeting of the board. Arrangements for the general membership will be discussed. George Ossip is to give the treasurer's report.

Other members of the board are Dr. A. C. Eskin, Arthur Friedland, Yale S. Lewine, Irwin Pariser, Max Spear, David Sigel, Leonard Schwab, Morris Baron, Robert Gerson, Robert Kaplan, Paul Steinberger, Moe Sacks and Richard Schwab.

The U.S. armed services buy 3,567,000 different items.

Missionary Will Conduct Services Here

Dr. E. A. Seamands of India will conduct a missionary convention at First Methodist Church tomorrow through Sunday, according to Rev. Everett W. Culp, minister.

The services will start with a fellowship supper by the Women's Society of Christian Service at 6 p. m. Friday. A service open to the public is scheduled for 7:30 p. m.

Saturday there will be a supper meeting for Methodist men at 6 p. m. followed by a meeting at 7:30 p. m. to which the public is invited.

Dr. Seamands will speak at morning and evening services on Sunday. He will show colored movies of missionary work in India.

Rev. Mr. Culp reports that Dr. Seamands is considered one of Methodism's outstanding missionaries. His family has given over 130 years to missionary work in India. He has two sons and their families are prominent in the religious life of India today.

His daughter-in-law, Ruth, wife of his oldest son, J. T. Seamands, has written a new book entitled "Missionary Mama." David Seamands, his second son, has the distinction of being the youngest man ever to be a district superintendent in the Methodist Church.

Deadline Nears For Wheat Plan

Tomorrow is the deadline for Allegany County farmers to sign up with the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee for the 1958 winter wheat acreage reserve, according to Miss Elizabeth A. Hoover, ASC office manager.

Twenty farmers already have been approved. Last year there were 25 and they received soil bank payments aggregating $3,612.02. There is a chance that payments this year might be higher because farmers who keep the same acreage in the soil bank this year that was left idle a year ago are entitled to an extra 10 per cent compensation, Miss Hoover noted.

Friday has been set as the absolute deadline for farmers all over the country to sign up for the soil bank. The office of the ASC is at 37 Washington Street, next to the Cumberland Free Public Library.

Some 210 farmers who have old wheat allotments were invited to sign up in the soil conservation program.

Beth Jacob Plans Yom Kippur Service

Yom Kippur services will be held tomorrow at 6:40 p. m. by Beth Jacob Congregation, according to Rabbi Stanley Levin, spiritual leader.

Rabbi Levin also announced that memorial services will be held Saturday morning and the concluding services of the High Holy days will be at 6:30 p. m. Saturday.

The ram's horn of Shofar will be blown Saturday night to signify the end of the fast.

The distance from New York to San Francisco around South America is 13,135 miles and via the Panama Canal is 5,262 miles.

Area Men Given State Fire Posts

A number of volunteer firemen from Allegany and Garrett counties are serving on committees of the Maryland State Firemen's Association for 1957-58.

William A. Wilson of Midland is again serving as treasurer of the state association.

Others named include John S. Prichard, Grantsville, board of trustees; George F. Comp Jr., Deer Park, executive committee; Homer Ambrose, McCoode, fire prevention bureau; Cromwell C. Zembower, LaVale, firemen's training committee; and John Eichhorn, Lonaconing, standards committee.

Also serving are Joseph C. Stuckey, Corriganville, chairman; William F. Matthews, Corriganville; Fred Purnell, Bedford Road; and James E. Loar, LaVale, all of the topics and statistics committee; Delbert Valentine, North Branch, and Donald Prichard, Grantsville, both members of the firemen's training booster committee; and Alvin Rankin, Frostburg, and Carl A. Schell, Kitzmiller, both members of the legislative committee.

Benna Appointed Advisor

Alfred Benna, mathematics and psychology teacher at Fort Hill High School, has been appointed faculty advisor for the Senior High Student Council.

Benna succeeds Joseph Pelzer who is now principal at Oldtown High School.

He noted yesterday that the student council will again sponsor the social room in the fourth and fifth periods each Thursday and Friday, along with a number of other activities.

Deanis Brown, student council president, said the group plans to buy a new American flag for the school and to sponsor three assemblies. Members of the council will also operate concessions at basketball games this season.

The council also will compile the six-week honor rolls this year, and the list will be published in the school paper.

Tractor-Trailer Wrecks At Breezewood

A tractor-trailer truck wrecked on U. S. Route 30, one mile west of Breezewood, Pa., yesterday when the trailer load of steel ingots shifted and caused the vehicle to jackknife.

The truck-trailer was operated by Byron E. Muck, RD 3, Everett, Pa., who was not injured.

Police said more than $5,500 damage was done to the vehicle in the accident, which occurred as the truck rounded a left turn on the highway.

The shifting load of steel caused the truck to break away from the trailer, which upset on the road. Police worked until late afternoon to clear the heavy wreckage which, fortunately, did not hamper traffic.

Buyers Spend $30,000 At Auction Sale

WASHINGTON (AP)—Buyers spent an estimated $30,000 yesterday in an auction of antiques, paintings and household furnishings from historic Belair Mansion, once the property of the late William Woodward Jr.

Woodward, a noted financier and turf personality, was killed Oct. 30, 1955, by a shotgun blast fired by his wife. She said she mistook him for a prowler in their Oyster Bay, Long Island, home. Woodward, who owned Nashua—one of America's all-time outstanding race horses—was 35 at the time of his death.

Today's action, involving some 200 items, was ordered by the Orphan's Court of Prince Georges County, Md. The estate is about 15 miles east of Washington.

The crowd on the lawn looked more like guests at a garden party than bargain hunters at a country auction. Expensive cars in the parking field and milk stools across buyers' arms were commonplace.

Television performer Audrey Meadows and her husband, Randolph D. Rouse, from Arlington, Va., paid the highest price of the day for a single item. Rouse bid $3,750 for a horse painting by J. F. Herring Sr., done in 1842. The horse is Blue Bonnet winner of the Great St. Leger stakes.

William J. Levitt, who purchased the 220-acre estate for $1,700,000, bought a fireplace set today for his new office in New Jersey and bid $160 for a small mahogany table.

Levitt said he still intends to preserve the Pre-Revolutionary mansion, although surrounding fields and woods will be covered by some 5,000 homes.

Baptist Leader States Protestant Revival Down

NEW YORK (AP)—An American Baptist leader says that the current religious revival has not increased the influence of Protestant churches as previous revivals have done. The Rev. John W. Thomas, newly named head of the denomination's Council on Christian Social Progress, said a major reason for this is that "our churches have been reluctant to deal with questions relating to the social order"—such as racial integration.

Statehouse Subject Of Varied Descriptions

By MARTY SUTPHIN

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Maryland's Statehouse, oldest one in the country still in use, is steeped in history.

Portraits of former governors, English monarchs who played a part in the state's history, hang on its walls.

A flag room on the first floor is a treasure chest of Free State lore. In the adjoining room a plaque marks the spot where Gen. George Washington resigned his commission as head of the Continental Army.

What do visitors think about when viewing this old capital building for the first time?

"My feet hurt," wrote a Takoma Park, Md. woman in the guest register.

"So do mine," echoed another Takoma Park woman who signed underneath.

Their complaints were recorded in the "Welcome Register" which visitors may sign at a desk in the governor's huge reception room.

There are more than 5,000 entries in the book for the summer tourist season of June, July and August.

Most visitors who sign leave the "remarks" column blank. Others apparently consider it a challenge to their wit.

The Statehouse is most often described as "beautiful," "impressive," "cool" and "crazy."

The comments range from "magnificent," "fabulous" and "extremely fascinating" to "nice," just "OK" or "awful."

Anyone checking the register would suspect that a couple of the names are fictitious—or forged.

"What a crummy joint!" was the comment after the name of "Bernardine Mudd, Sneaky Lane, Sneaky Falls, Idaho."

Shortly after Leona Gage Ennis won the Miss Maryland and Miss Universe titles in July, a wit wrote this entry:

"Leona Gage, Glen Burnie, Md. 'fear of heights, said she 'would like to go in the dome.'"

There are remarks written by visitors from every state in the nation and from many foreign countries. Some are in French, Japanese and German.

Often a teacher or leader signs in for a group of 30 to 300 students, Boy Scouts or members of a Homemakers Club.

A visitor from Napoli, Italy, thought the building or the room looked "extremely important," while a Wyoming taxpayer observed it "looks expensive."

A Chester, Md. girl thought the building was "too high." But an Annapolis girl with no apparent was "rewarding and starts you thinking."

A Cumberland doctor and his wife may have summed up the feelings of most Maryland visitors when they wrote: "We are very proud of our state."

Two visitors from Nevada compared the Maryland capital with the one in their home state. "Not as pretty as ours," wrote one. "Nice, but I'm prejudiced," said the other.

One tourist from Algonquin, Ill., drew a picture of a bird in the "remarks" column.

Most visitors make their comments in seriousness. "Where one meets history," remarked a couple from Wilmer, Ark. "It's good to see early American tradition preserved," commented a Mt. Vernon, N. Y. couple. A Clearwater Beach, Md. woman said her visit

Frostburg National Guard
Holds Annual Inspection

Registration
Held At Luke

LUKE—Four voters signed up at the registration held in the council chamber here for those becoming 21 years of age, and for citizens who have moved into the community, according to G. Elmer May, town clerk.

Thirty-one voters were stricken from the poll books. They have either moved from the community or who have died. At present there are 319 registered voters in the town.

The reduction in the number of voters is greatly due to the expansion program of the 50-million-dollar expansion program of the Luke mill of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

A number of houses have been razed and moved to other places in the Tri-Towns and vicinity.

The regular election for mayor and commissioners will not be held until next year.

Kitzmiller To See
Voting Machines

KITZMILLER—William Wilson, former chairman of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors, and Irvin Neat, Allegany County registrar, will be in Kitzmiller tonight to give a demonstration on new voting machines.

The demonstration is sponsored by the Republican Women's Club of Kitzmiller and will be staged at the fire hall at 7 p. m. Representatives of the club said this demonstration is sponsored to familiarize residents with the new machines which were recently purchased for the county. The demonstration is open to all interested persons, regardless of party affiliation.

The Kitzmiller GOP women will sponsor a bazaar after the demonstration and refreshments will be available. Following the public demonstration and bazaar, a short business meeting will be held by club members.

FROSTBURG—The annual general inspection of Company D, 115 Infantry, Maryland National Guard took place Tuesday at the local armory with the entire unit participating.

In charge was Maj. Paul B. Lord of the Inspector General's Department, Headquarters Second Army, Fort Meade.

Others in the inspection group were Col. Robert W. King, senior Army advisor for the State of Maryland; Capt. Stewart D. Howard, Army advisor, First Battalion, 115th Infantry and Sfc. James W. Loomis of Capt. Crawford's staff.

The first phase of the checkup began with the inspection of the building, administration, personnel records, classified documents and supplies of all nature.

Representing the local guard were CWO Arnett J. Arrington, unit administrator and Sfc. James W. Bennett, supply sergeant.

According to Arrington, the visitors expressed satisfaction with the cleanliness and conditions found throughout the building, and with the status of the supplies and equipment. In addition to the individual equipment, the vehicles which include seven moving vehicles, five trailers and two 105 MM recoilless rifles under the supervision of Sfc. Matthew Skidmore were inspected. Sfc. Skidmore was commended for the condition of this equipment.

In the evening the inspection was in the ranks of the individual soldiers. A half hour was devoted to questioning members on items of military interest. The training schedule of the evening was devoted to first aid with the unit being divided into four classes under the supervision of Master Sgt. Donald E. Lloyd, Master Sgt. Robert M. Scherl, Master Sgt. John L. Stark and Lieut. William B. Wood. Medals and interest was observed and analyzed by the inspectors.

At the close of the evening a critique was held with the entire inspection being discussed and analyzed. Official results of the inspection will be mailed to the company at a later date.

Company officers taking part in the affair were Lieut. Robert M. Andrews, commanding officer; Lieut. Francis J. Allen, Lieut. Harold L. Scott, Lieut. William B. Wood and Arrington.

At the present time the company includes, besides commissioned officers, 22 non-commissioned officers, 18 specialists and 85 enlisted men.

FROSTBURG—Fifty Methodist students and faculty members of Frostburg State Teachers College were guests at a reception held Tuesday evening in the lecture room of First Methodist Church.

The affair was sponsored by the following church campus committee: Walter Mackey, chairman, R. Bowen Hardesty, Dr. Maryland; Capt. Stewart D. Howard, L. Briggs, Mrs. Joseph Cunniff, Army advisor, First Battalion, 115th Infantry and Sfc. James W. Loomis of Capt. Crawford's staff.

A musical program was followed by refreshments served by the ladies of the SCS circles of the church under the chairmanship of Mrs. Walter E. Jeffries.

A communion breakfast will be held at the parsonage Sunday following the 8:30 a. m. service. All students of State Teachers College may attend. Ladies of the WSCS will be in charge.

Rev. Francis E. Montgomery, administrator at St. Michael's Catholic Church, announced today that the latest word received on the condition of Rev. Patrick J. Bradley, pastor, who is a patient in St. Joseph's Hospital, Cork, Ireland, that he is "resting comfortably—but unable to acknowledge receipt of cards and well wishes sent him for his recovery."

Father Bradley was stricken aboard ship as he was sailing for a visit to the land of his birth, Ireland, and for a visit with members of his family.

Mrs. Charles Houdersfield, Barton, has been admitted to Miners Hospital as a surgical patient.

Mrs. Quail Wilson, Lonaconing, and Dorthen Skidmore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Skidmore, Midland, have been admitted to Miners Hospital as surgical patients.

LUCKY CALF—Sylvia Todd, 11, who lives on a farm at Gibsonia, Pa., feeds a six-day-old calf in the living room of her home. Ordinarily calves weigh from 40 to 50 pounds at birth, but this calf weighed only 10 pounds. The girl promptly induced her parents to allow her to keep it in the house and put it on a regular schedule calling for a large bottle of milk every three hours. The formula seems to work as the calf now weighs 20 pounds.

Bazaar Booth Set

PIEDMONT—The Wesleyan Service Guild of Trinity Methodist Church will enter a booth in the bazaar to be held by the Woman's Society of Christian Service in the recreation hall of the church Thursday, November 21.

The theme of the booth will be "Missions," representing the work of the guild and WSCS groups in this area.

It was also decided at the meeting of the guild Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Norma Kehne, Bloomington, to assist in the serving of a public supper sponsored by the WSCS on November 14 at the church from 5 to 6:30 p. m.

The definite date for the Christmas concert to be sponsored by the guild was set for Sunday, December 15.

Devotions were conducted by Mrs. George W. Daddysman, scripture reading by Mrs. Orvel Kozlo and prayer by Mrs. L. E. Crowson. Miss Pauline Whitman was the pianist.

Miss Catherine Crawford conducted that part of the meeting at which officers and committees explained their duties, followed by a hymn sing. The group will sell Christmas cards.

Refreshments were served and Miss Adair Welfon was assistant hostess. Mrs. Billie Jane Fleck, president, presided.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Henrietta Kozlo, Oak View Drive, Westernport, on November 5. Mrs. Sebastian Barbarello will be assistant hostess.

Gifts were received from Mesdames Charles Faugh, Cecil Fazenbaker, Louis Nasser, Leo Nesmith, Gary Dawson, Edna Rederick, Sandra Hook, Virginia Boyce, Fern Green, Mary Fazenbaker, Lulu Fazenbaker.

Mrs. Dave Cook, Mrs. Donna Flick, Mrs. Earl Hill Jr., Virginia Mix, Alice Fink, Joyce Jones, Dorothy Groves, Lois Biddle, Elizabeth Thomas and Thomas Dawson, and Misses Mary Fink and Sandra Dawson.

Sportsmen's Day Planned At Festival

ELKINS — Saturday has been designated "All Sportsmen's Day" at the 21st annual Mountain State Forest Festival here.

The day's program will have a three-ring circus appearance with several interesting events in progress at the same time, such as archery exhibitions by national and state champions, state championship flag and fly casting contests, an old-fashioned riding tournament and a muzzle loading rifle shoot, all going on at the same time.

Something entirely new to festival crowds will be sports car races at 2 p. m. at the Elk Mountain Municipal Airport. Assistant Director-General William J. Loe has been advised by Luther K. Stroder of Clarksville that cars to enter the races include Austin, Healy, MG, TF, MG, Hillman, Jaguar, Triumph, Alfa Romeo, Mercedes-Benz, Porsche, 1958 Volkswagen and Renault. These cars include some of the most popular from the foreign markets imported to the United States.

Drivers in such races are not professionals, but come from all walks of life and drive for the fun of driving.

Archers scheduled to appear on Sportsmen's Day include Mrs. Merle Milner of Marlinton, women's national champion; Stanley Taylor of St. Albans, past state champion; Benny Gaski of Grant, past state champion and runner-up to the national champion; John Gaski, past national junior champion; Mrs. Jerry Jeffers of South Charleston, past women's champion and Joe Farmer of Parkersburg.

The Knights of the South Branch Valley have been coming to the festival each year since its founding in 1930 to participate in one of the oldest sports in American history. The annual jousting tournament in which the spirited horsemen ride in the manner of knights of old for the honor of crowning the Queen of Love and Beauty always is a popular feature.

State championship flag and fly casting contests have been moved from tomorrow to Saturday morning this year and many fishermen from West Virginia and other states are expected to compete.

An innovation this year will be members of the National Muzzle Loading Rifle Association in an

Poultrymen Plan Annual Garrett Tour

Allegany County poultrymen are being urged by Agent Joseph M. Steger to register now for the annual poultry tour which will take them to a number of points of interest in Garrett County on Wednesday, October 16.

The group will leave the Court House at 8 a. m. (EDT) October 16 in a chartered bus and will be back at the Court House in Cumberland at 6 p. m. at the conclusion of a 127-mile trip.

En route to Garrett County the bus will stop at the post office in Frostburg to pick up those going from that sector.

First tour stop will be at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Glass between Frostburg and Grantsville to see 4,000 bronze turkeys on blue grass and clover range. Next they will stop at the egg farm of Edward Davis at Springs, Pa., north of Grantsville, to see his laying flock of 2,500 Leghorns.

After another 18 miles of travel the group will stop at the turkey farm of Robert Gloffely of Bittinger, president of the Garrett County Turkey Growers Association. There the visitors will see 7,000 Bellville white turkeys on the range. Next pause will be at the Clark Schlossnagle broiler farm at Friendsville to see 4,000 broilers in cement block building.

Lunch will be served the travelers at 12:30 p. m. at the North Fork High School cafeteria.

Afternoon stops are scheduled at the broiler farm of Harold Gregory on U. S. Route 219 near Oakland with 7,000 broilers; the Sterling processing plant at Oakland which processes 40,000 broilers or 18,000 turkeys every eight-hour working day; and the poultry laboratory in Oakland supervised by Dr. Donald R. Gloffely.

Between 30 and 40 are expected but at the present time only five or six farmers have made their reservations. The county agent would like all reservations by Friday, October 11.

Women Jurors Drawn First Time For Hardy Court Term

MOOREFIELD — For the first time in the county's judicial history, 13 women will serve as jurors at the October term of Hardy County Circuit Court which opens here October 15.

Six women will serve on the grand jury and seven on the petit jury. Court officials said it might be a dubious honor for the female petit jurors, however, as the court docket is light and it may not be necessary to call the petit jury to sit on any cases.

The Hardy County grand jury includes Anna H. Callahan, Kathryn Kuhn, Nancy H. Harman, Florence B. Cochran, Gladys Dispanet, Esther E. Baughman, Hunter G. Tharp, Clarence Funkhouser, Warren W. Jenkins, Raymond W. Tusing, Price Bayne, Ralph H. Fisher, Wilmer Neff, John W. Coffman, S. L. Harper Jr. and Carl Bergdall.

Petit jurors include Lola G. LaFollette, Margaret P. Allen, Fannie B. Donnan, Virginia L. Doyle, Madge Brooks, Marie Evans, Nellie Garrett, John F. Hulse Jr., Donald Carr, Guy Combs, Thomas B. McNeill, Jake Fisher, Harvey Riggelman, Theodore Miller, Howard Moyers, Charles Culler, Herbert Evans, Paul Bean, Robert L. Evans, Lewis Loeving, Harry B. Brooks, Charles Bensenhaver, Homer Dove, James W. Strawderman, Stanley W. See, Clyde Fiddle, John W. Fisher, Lester H. Mathias, Leslie Payne and Clarence H. Fisher.

After another 18 miles of travel the group will stop at the turkey farm of Robert Gloffely of Bittinger, president of the Garrett County Turkey Growers Association. There the visitors will see 7,000 Bellville white turkeys on the range. Next pause will be at the Clark Schlossnagle broiler farm at Friendsville to see 4,000 broilers in cement block building.

Lunch will be served the travelers at 12:30 p. m. at the North Fork High School cafeteria.

Afternoon stops are scheduled at the broiler farm of Harold Gregory on U. S. Route 219 near Oakland with 7,000 broilers; the Sterling processing plant at Oakland which processes 40,000 broilers or 18,000 turkeys every eight-hour working day; and the poultry laboratory in Oakland supervised by Dr. Donald R. Gloffely.

Between 30 and 40 are expected but at the present time only five or six farmers have made their reservations. The county agent would like all reservations by Friday, October 11.

Bloodmobile Visit Slated

ROMNEY — The Red Cross bloodmobile unit will be in Romney on October 17 from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. at the Presbyterian Church.

Hampshire County is one of eight in West Virginia cooperating with the Washington Regional Blood Center, and has been a participant for approximately six years.

Within Hampshire County, approximately 90 units of blood have been used since January 1. This will be the first fall visit of the unit and, as usual, trained Red Cross personnel will evaluate the donors and take the blood.

Report Given
Sgt. W. Frank Bowley of the Romney Detachment of West Virginia State Police has released his September report of activities, which shows a decline in accidents on Hampshire County highways.

Fourteen accidents were investigated, eight investigation reports filed, 19 warning tickets given, two revocation orders served, one stolen car valued at $450 recovered and $47.77 worth of other stolen property recovered.

Arrests show 39 road law misdemeanors and 16 other misdemeanors. One hundred miles were traveled transporting prisoners. The man hours record shows 32 in giving operators examinations, 36 at the office, 210 on road patrol, 255 for investigation, 69 on special events, 12 for weight law enforcement, 25 in court and 67 others.

Two Police Officers In Probe To Be Named

BALTIMORE (U) — Two high-ranking officers of the Baltimore Police Department, accused of maintaining an apartment for and committing immoral acts with a convicted prostitute, will be named in departmental charges leading to their suspension tomorrow.

Clayton A. Dietrich, assistant Maryland attorney general, said formal departmental charges will be filed sometime Friday.

Police Commissioner James M. Hebron has said the two officers, as yet unnamed, will be suspended the moment he receives the charges.

Hebron yesterday announced that Inspector Clarence O. Forrester, head of the racket division, and Capt. Hyman Goldstein, head of the vice squad, are on sick leave and leave of absence, respectively. He named replacements.

State Police have been probing the immorality charges for nearly two weeks and Tuesday heard testimony from members of the family of Sgt. Charles Gross, who committed suicide. Police have said Gross' death was linked directly with the probe. His widow, brother, and two sisters-in-law, who said they feared for their own safety, went to State Police to "tell all we know about the case."

There have been reports that the investigation has been broadened to include charges of graft in the city police department — specifically the alleged disappearance of $2,600 seized in a numbers raid last summer.

Mr. William E. Weber who is heading the State Police probe says a lie detector will be used in questioning witnesses. Dietrich added that all policemen being questioned have been warned, as a matter of routine, that any refusal to answer questions will subject them to possible dismissal from the force.

Among the witnesses questioned yesterday were racketeers squad Captain Raymond Belzner who was at the Gross home to see why Gross hadn't reported for work when the sergeant fatally shot himself last Friday.

Mrs. Gross told newsmen yesterday that one of her husband's final acts before he shot himself was to try to shoot Belzner. She said she deflected the gun and saved Belzner's life.

Belzner denied this yesterday, adding that he had done nothing wrong and did not know why Gross would have wanted to harm him.

Mrs. Gross said her husband kept saying he had been duped by certain members of the police department and a civilian. He then tried to shoot Belzner, she said.

Gross died Monday of a bullet wound in the head. He will be buried today.

Luke Gets Permit For New House

John A. Luke, manager of the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, has obtained a permit from the Allegany County assessing department for construction of a brick dwelling in the Horse Rock Hill development near Westport in Election District 2.

In obtaining the permit, Luke did not provide information as to the size of the home nor did he give an estimated cost for the project.

A former Allegany High School teacher who now lives at Euclid, Ohio, Everett B. Kreider, obtained a permit to build a $5,000 addition to a house on Lots 1 and 2 of Mountain View Addition in Election District 29 at LaVale.

NEW YORK — (JNS) — Wall Street Hears: Earnings projections for 1957: American Smelting $4 vs. $6.67 in 1956; Tidewater Oil $3.30 vs. $2.76; N. Y. Central $5.25 vs. $3.16; Socony $5.50 vs. $5.70; Commonwealth Edison $2.85 vs. $2.72; Du Pont $8.50 vs. $8.19; H. J. Heinz $8.12 vs. $6.69; Standard Brands $4 vs. $3.48.

Standard Oil of N.J.'s plan to float $250-$350 million of common stock would reduce estimated 1957 net of $4.60 by less than 15 cents a share, A. M. Kidder & Co. estimates.

Higher dividend in the cards next year for Pfizer. Current rate is $1.75 a year.

Improvement in copper stocks in the last few sessions due in part to more normal inventories. However, no large scale buying of the metal is anticipated.

Third quarter airlines' earnings will make poor reading.

Market comment — Heinz Biochemical, Decfen & Co.: "Many stocks — though by no means all — have come down to levels where the long-range investment risk has become small, where a sensible relationship between price, earnings and dividends has been restored."

Missionary Will Address Society

Miss Violet Popp, Baptist missionary, will be the principal speaker at a meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Grace Baptist Church tomorrow at 7:30 p. m.

Miss Popp will tell of her experiences as a missionary in the Holy Land. She also will show movies and present a display on her travels and work as a missionary.

Officials of the WMS said all members are invited to bring their families to the program.

In addition the Sunbeams auxiliary and the Junior and Intermediate G. A.'s will meet at the church at 7 p. m. to attend the mission program in a body.

Refreshments will be served in the fellowship hall of the church following the program.

Future Clothes May Kill Germs

LOS ANGELES — (JNS) — The newest wrinkle in the fight against disease may be "cure as you wear it" clothing.

And before long manufacturers may be turning out material that can be used effectively in the treatment of such skin ailments as furunculosis, ammonia dermatitis and other diaper skin disorders.

Dr. C. A. Lawrence, of the University of California at Los Angeles Medical School, and Dr. A. J. Maffia, of the New York Medical College, have conducted an extensive survey in this method of combatting skin disorders.

They reported in a recent issue of "Bulletin of American Society of Hospital Pharmacists" that blankets as well as clothing could be impregnated with special disease-killing chemical agents.

They said evidence also indicates that respiratory diseases and streptococcal infections can be decreased by this method.

Dr. Lawrence reports that certain four-element compounds known as "quats" have been the most successfully used antiseptics for this purpose.

Sen. Goldstein Proposes Solution To Span Tolls

BALTIMORE (U) — Sen. Goldstein (D-Calvert) suggested yesterday the settlement of a controversy over Chesapeake Bay Bridge tolls might lie in "a new State Roads Commission and a governor that's got guts enough to do something about it."

Goldstein made the remark at a meeting of the Maryland Legislative Council, which he heads.

The Council, interim investigative arm of the Legislature, was discussing proposals for lowering the bridge tolls. The tolls are now $1.45 per car and driver, plus 25 cents for each passenger. Reductions to $1.25 per car and a maximum of $1.50 for car and any number of occupants have been proposed by Coverdale and Colpitts, New York traffic engineering firm.

Eastern Shore and Southern Maryland Legislators who expressed dissatisfaction with the existing rates said at a September Council hearing the proposed reductions were not enough.

At yesterday's meeting many said they still were displeased by the Coverdale and Colpitts recommendations. The New York firm was hired by the roads commission.

Asked what members of the Council could do about the toll situation, Goldstein replied: "We can get a new State Roads Commission and a governor that's got guts enough to do something about it. That's what we can do."

Del. Robinson (D-Balto 4th) complained that the council had had difficulty in getting positive and direct action on its requests for statistics from Coverdale and Colpitts.

"I have no confidence in Coverdale and Colpitts," he said. "I have no confidence in their report."

In recommending reductions in the Bay Bridge tolls, the engineering firm suggested that Baltimore Harbor Tunnel tolls be set at 40 cents instead of the 35 cents originally proposed.

Some legislators protested these recommendations would not sufficiently ease what they considered inequities.

The Coverdale and Colpitts report also recommended that Susquehanna River Bridge tolls be raised from 15 to 20 cents for non-commuters and that no charge be made in the $1 toll for use of the Potomac River Bridge at Morgan-town.

Tolls from all four facilities, including the harbor tunnel to be opened in about two months, are lumped together to pay off consolidated bond obligations on bridges and tunnel.

The tunnel, a large, white sea bird, is related to the pelican.

Business Briefs . . .

NEW YORK — (JNS) — Contracts for future construction in the U.S. amounted to $2,817,966,000 in August, a five per cent drop from the same month of 1956. The monthly report by F. W. Dodge Corp., construction news specialists, today showed non-residential building in the month valued at $1,008,265,000, an eight per cent gain over August, 1956, and residential building up five per cent at $1,283,513,000. Heavy engineering contracts, however, slumped 34 per cent to $526,182,000.

NEW YORK — (JNS) — Chemical Corn Exchange Bank reported today net operating earnings for the quarter ended Sept. 30 of $5,086,428, or $1.15 a share, compared with $5,382,853, or $1.01 a share, a year ago. For the nine months per share net amount to $3.38 as against $2.89, reflecting higher interest rates on loans.

The U.S. Air Force estimates it has about 1,000 planes in the air every minute of day and night.

Missing Rocket Sought After Being Dropped

CHESTER TOWN, Md. (U) — A State Police and military authorities warned anyone finding it not to move it but to notify police or the Air Force at New Castle.

An F94 Starfire jet on a routine training mission from the New Castle Air Force Base in nearby Delaware reported it dropped the rocket yesterday in the vicinity of this Kent County Community.

The rocket has a dummy warhead but a live propellant charge, which the Air Force described as "mildly dangerous," the rocket weighs about 9 pounds, is a little less than 3 inches in diameter and 3 feet long.

How Magnetic Film available only in Prestone Anti-Freeze stops rust and corrosion

Installing anti-freeze in the modern car can be a difficult task. Have your dealer, an expert,
do the job.

MAGNETIC FILM COATS
ENTIRE COOLING SYSTEM...
HALTS RUST FORMATION
IMMEDIATELY!

Give your car a real break with "Prestone" anti-freeze. Protects against the bitterest cold—sure. But more—an exclusive Magnetic Film coats your entire cooling system the moment "Prestone" anti-freeze is put in your car. Magnetic Film protects against rust and corrosion all through your radiator, water pump and engine block. And Magnetic Film provides protection for all seven metals commonly found in a cooling system! Be sure you get this extra protection for your engine. Insist on "Prestone" anti-freeze.

The GREEN TAG, attached to your radiator
by your dealer, proves you have "Prestone" anti-freeze and NOT A SUBSTITUTE.

For your own protection, be sure to look for the Green Tag as soon as your anti-freeze is installed. The "Prestone" anti-freeze guarantee is printed on the tag. It is your assurance of complete protection against cooling system rust and corrosion.

Judge Delays Sentence On Embezzling

Mrs. Berdella Leib Enters Guilty Plea To $7,115 Charge

A 44-year-old Cumberland mother entered a plea of guilty this morning to a charge of embezzling $7,115.53 from a local women's apparel store when she appeared in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Chief Judge George Henderson deferred sentencing Mrs. Berdella V. Leib, of 722 Fayette Street.

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher entered four counts against the former clerk of Lazarus, Inc.

Employed Seven Years
One was for embezzlement of $7,115.53 in cash; the second, embezzlement of the same amount in goods, articles and current money; third, grand larceny of $7,115.53; and fourth, receiving stolen goods.

Earl E. Manges, attorney for Mrs. Leib, entered a plea of guilty to the first count.

Fletcher stated at the trial held before Judge Henderson that she began her employment at the local store in 1950. The embezzlement took place between November 1953 and March 2, 1957.

Fletcher explained store used an original sales slip, and two duplicates. Ordinarily, the original goes to the bookkeeping department, one duplicate goes to the customer and the second copy is kept in the store as part of a permanent record, he added.

Sales For Cash

Mrs. Leib, he said, would make a sale, destroy the original, put the one copy in with the article sold and keep the money. The second duplicate was filed away, never used or checked, the state's attorney declared.

Fletcher presented the judge with a confession signed by the defendant. He added that the amount of the embezzlement was uncovered through a check of the second duplicates.

Manges told the judge the defendant realizes the seriousness of the charge to which she pleaded guilty.

He added that Mrs. Leib at some point of her employment at the store probably needed a small amount, and when the loss was not discovered she did it again.

Cooperated Fully
She cooperated fully with the state's attorney in the investigation, he pointed out, submitting to a lie detector test.

Mrs. Leib, he said, has suffered the punishment of the loss of standing in the community, the loss of her opportunities of employment, bearing it all very hard.

Her only hope lies in restitution and said she could pay $500 in one lump sum, plus $40 per month in order to make a partial settlement to the bonding company which has paid the firm its loss.

He added that her husband, George Leib, who suffers partial disability because of a service-connected disability, is willing to work to help pay back the amount she owes to the bonding company.

Judge Henderson, after a number of letters of character reference were presented by Manges, said he would defer sentencing until later.

The only spectators to the hearing were Leib, and Mrs. Minnie Bogner, bondswoman for Mrs. Leib.

Trio Damage Suits Filed In Local Court

Three damage suits resulting from auto mishaps and totaling $33,000 were filed this morning in Allegany County Circuit Court.

One for $25,000 was docketed by Josephine C. Biggs, Ridgeley, through her attorney, Earl E. Manges, against Leslee Earl Schwindt, Lonaconing.

She stated that on March 12, 1956, she was standing on Route 55 near Vale Summit when a car operated by Mr. Schwindt hit a parked auto.

The parked vehicle knocked the woman into the air, and caused her to suffer permanent injuries, her attorney alleges.

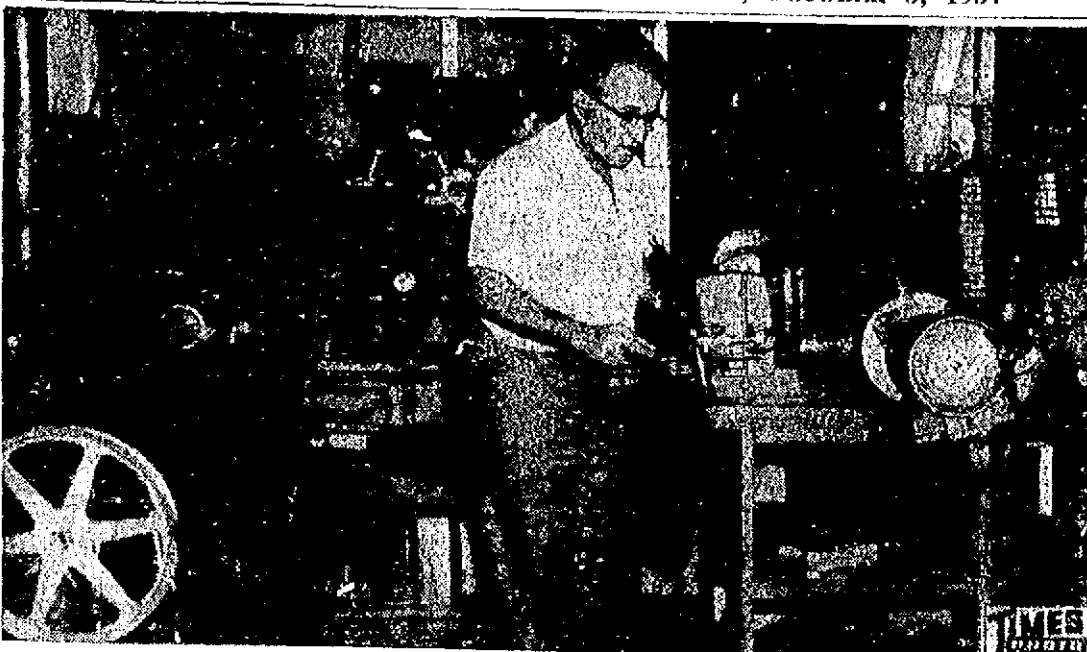

G. Kenneth McLaughlin, Flintstone, sued George P. Powers of this city for $3,000 as a result of alleged damages to the engine of a tractor he owned.

McLaughlin, through his attorney, W. Earle Cobey, declared an employee at Powers' service station replaced the oil plug on the tractor in an alleged loose manner.

The plug fell out on February 16, and the motor lost all its oil, causing extensive damage to it, the petition stated.

Ernest Poole, Star Route, Flintstone, entered a suit for $5,000 against Raymond E. Reddinger, Chaneyville.

Poole's car was demolished in an accident August 4 at the intersection of Chaneyville Road and National Highway east of here.

BACK IN BUSINESS—Three and a half years ago, Paul Beckwith, above, of Roberts Place, thought he was at the end of the line as far as work was concerned. He had gone through two broken back injuries, plus a number of other ailments. Non-employable, he was given home shop training through the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation of the State Department of Education, and the photos show him at work, earning his own living, at his shop in his residence. At the top Beckwith, a former mechanic in the CA Engineering Department at Amcelle Plant of the Celanese Corporation, is shown sharpening a lawn mower blade, and at bottom is his leather tooling shop. He is equipped and trained to do many jobs.

SS Coverage For Firemen, Police Starts

The city today took the first step which will permit the police and fire department personnel to be covered by Social Security, Mayor Roy W. Eves explained.

He was writing to Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin for permission to conduct a referendum among the members of the two departments.

Paul H. Fales, chairman of the Social Security Division of the Maryland Employers Retirement System, in a letter to Mayor Eves informed him of the steps necessary before Social Security coverage can be attained by police and firemen.

The rules, included in an amendment to Section 218 of the Social Security Act, Fales wrote, permit such personnel in Maryland to obtain coverage.

Once permission of the governor is received, the mayor must issue a written 90-day notice of referendum to members of the two departments, and submit a copy of the notice to the Division of Social Security.

The amended section of the Social Security Act states that should coverage be approved by the Federal Social Security Administration prior to December 31, coverage will be retroactive to January 1, 1953. If approval is given after December 31 and prior to December 31, 1959, coverage will be retroactive to January 1, 1956, and if approval is obtained after December 31, 1959, coverage will only be for the year in which it is approved.

Social Security coverage for the police and firemen has been advocated by the Maryland Municipal League, Mayor Eves pointed out, and U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall and Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde have actively supported such action.

County Farmers Will Sell Pigs

Two Allegany County farmers will participate in the third Maryland feeder pig sale at the Baltimore Livestock Auction, West Friendship, November 7.

They are Roy and James Twigg, who have a farm at Walnut Ridge off Route 51 east of here, according to Joseph A. Steger, Allegany County farm agent.

They sold nearly 100 pigs at the sale in May when an average of 35 cents per pound was received.

The animals entered in the sale weigh less than 100 pounds each.

Food Distribution
Surplus food will be distributed from Ridgeley area families Friday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Ridgeley Council Room.

Local Police Meet To Form Union Chapter

Eleven members of the Cumberland Police Department met last night with a representative of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME).

Lt. James E. Van was named temporary chairman of the group and Officer William E. Valentine will be the temporary treasurer.

At the meeting at the Labor Temple the police met with Robert H. Hastings, general organizer of the AFSCME, of Washington.

Hastings told the group he felt his organization could help them obtain better working conditions and higher wages if the policemen would organize a union here.

He explained that the AFSCME could charter a group of 10 department employees but he urged the local officers to try to secure at least 50 per cent of the department force. He distributed application blanks among these present.

Training Pays Off For Handicapped

Home Shop Proves Salvation For Bowling Green Man

By C. A. LANCASTER
Evening Times Staff Writer

The National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week which will be observed next week means something to a Bowling Green man.

The 54-year-old man is totally deaf, has a bad back as a result of two separate fractures of the spine, stomach ulcers, a hernia condition, and a coronary heart disease.

He would be pretty hard to place in a job where he could be a self-sustaining member of society.

"Hopeless" Case
So thought John M. Coburn, counselor for the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation of the State Department of Education, when he took the case of Paul Beckwith, Roberts Place.

Coburn's job is to place handicapped workers in jobs where they can become self-sustaining members of society.

If necessary, the state division will train these persons so that they can qualify by skills for employment.

Coburn reviewed the case of Beckwith, an employee of Amcelle Plant of Celanese Corporation for 17 years before being injured three and one-half years ago.

The counselor said he could not see where a man with Beckwith's physical disabilities could be placed in any job.

So he did the next best thing. He had Beckwith sent to Woodrow Wilson Vocational Rehabilitation Center at Fishersville, Va.

Handy With Tools
There Beckwith, who Coburn found, was very handy with tools, having been a rigger in CA Engineering at Amcelle Plant, fit in with the courses given him.

Beckwith's line of study during the nine months was to have him learn certain skills so that he could set up a shop in his home.

Today, five months after leaving his schooling, Beckwith is set up in a shop in his residence through the help of the vocational rehabilitation division to do these things:

File saws, sharpen lawn mowers; repair small gasoline and electric motors, and tool leather. Just getting underway, Beckwith has been given a new lease on a life that would otherwise be fruitless and drab.

The only thing he complains about is that he doesn't have enough work to keep himself busy, Coburn reports. "I have too much time on my hands," Beckwith said.

Public welfare costs during August in Garrett County amounted to $21,108.59.

Old age assistance was given 207 persons for $8,948.18 with the average grant $43.23. Five cases were added and three cancelled. Aid to 265 dependent children of 36 families cost $7,532.63. Five cases were added and three cancelled.

Hunting License Sale Brisk Here

The sale of Maryland hunting licenses proceeded at a brisk pace this morning in Allegany County Court House, according to Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Circuit Court.

The season on squirrels and turkeys opens Saturday morning and continues through October 31.

Turkey is legal game during that period in only Allegany, Washington and Worcester counties. Only one turkey is allowed.

The hunters are limited to a daily kill of six gray squirrels, while there is no limit on red or piney squirrels.

SRC Studies Heavy Traffic Bypass Plan

Proposal By City Would Funnel 220 Traffic Westward

Robert O. Bonnell, chairman of the Maryland State Roads Commission, has informed Mayor Roy W. Eves that he has received a request by the city for the establishment of a permanent truck route bypassing the business district to the SRC traffic and legal departments for study.

Mayor Eves last week was authorized by Council to inquire of the roads commission as to the possibility of establishing a permanent truck route for U. S. Route 220.

Council unanimously adopted a motion for the route plan by Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan, after it was pointed out the detour entailed by the construction of the Baltimore Street bridge was hazardous because of narrow streets, steep grades and sharp corners which had to be negotiated by large vehicles.

The Central Trucking Division of the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation, with headquarters on Bedford Road, worked out a route for its vehicles which bypassed the business district entirely, and then submitted the plan to Commissioner Keegan.

The Route 220 traffic used by the Celanese truckers comes in Bedford Road to Henderson Avenue, goes west on U. S. Route 40 to the intersection of Braddock Road and then traverses State Route 53 (Winchester Road) until it reaches 220 at Cresap town.

This route, Keegan pointed out, eliminates almost all the sharp corners and steep grades, and besides is a good, wide roadway along its entire route.

Traffic Improvement
The Police Department and City Engineering Department assisted in working out the truck detour plan, Mayor Eves said, adding that it was felt advisable that all heavy traffic should be kept off the streets in the business district at least until the Cumberland Thruway is completed.

Bonnell wrote the mayor that he was in complete sympathy with the problems faced by the city during the current construction program, and would inform him of the recommendations by the SRC departments as soon as they became available.

Tour Planned As Part Of Land Week

In conjunction with observance of Land Week in Allegany County starting October 7 a tour of a number of farms, a sawmill, wild turkey farm and an orchard are being planned for Saturday, October 12, according to Floyd Buser, general chairman of the event.

Buser said that those interested in making the tour will meet at the Court House about 9 a. m. October 12 and can join a motor caravan.

Among places to be visited are the Marshall Porter dairy farm at Eckhart, the livestock farm at Oldtown of Roy and James Twigg, the Cingerman sawmill at Flintstone, the state's wild turkey farm at Belle Grove, and the Consolidated Orchards on Irons Mountain.

At each place there will be short lectures concerning conservation measures taken in connection with the operation. At the dairy farms it will consist of an explanation of pastures and hay crops grown and the use of various type soils.

Conservation in the operation of a sawmill will be outlined, and at the wild turkey farm the propagation of these birds for the sport hunters will be explained. The use of sprays and other conservation measures will be explained at the orchards.

Information on the tour may be obtained from Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent, at his office in the Court House. Steger said persons interested can visit all or part of the places listed on the tour.

A brochure of the tour is being prepared in which directions will be given and other data listed in order to help explain the Land Week observance.

History Unit Prepares For Annual Show

Members of the Allegany County Historical Society are busy getting its three-story home at 218 Washington Street ready for the annual exhibit and hobby show, October 16 through October 20.

A visit to the big residence will find each room containing new items of interest for persons of this section.

Miss Ruth Clauson, society president, and her committees are busy getting the exhibits into displaying shape.

While the society has some wire dress forms and some wooden frames that will be utilized, the members still need old dress forms to display the many unusual items of women's apparel of the last century.

She said they may be donated or loaned for the week's showing. While there are hundreds of articles that will be new to the viewers this year, the society still has room in its quarters for any exhibits persons may wish to loan.

New sections this year include the medical room equipped by Dr. Leslie E. Daugherty, the room of early American household articles, another with uniforms, from the Mexican War, lamps, old books and ledgers, baby carriages and cradles, period furniture, and many others.

Miss Clauson and Louis Young are co-chairmen of the third annual event.

Sewage Plant Costs Aired In Tri-Towns

Lake Mill Project Posing Financial Problems To Towns

Representatives of the Upper Potomac River Commission held separate meetings last night with the Piedmont and Westernport Town councils concerning the installation of connections with the $3,000,000 sewage plant that will be constructed by the Lake plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

The river commission was represented by William Walsh, this city, and Richard Hazen, New York engineer. Hazen submitted estimated costs the communities would face if they built separate treatment plants, and pointed out that much money would be saved if they participated in the project with the paper company.

Walsh and Hazen recommended that Piedmont, Westernport and Lake pay for the installation of connections, interceptor sewers and pumping stations to the Lake mill trunk line which will run from the mill to the treatment plant below Westernport.

Near Operating Limit
Mayor Rodney Baker of Piedmont and Mayor Okey Michaels of Westernport pointed out that the two towns were near the limit they can levy for operating expenses, and submitted several substitute proposals.

Mayor Baker made two offers, one being that the river commission finance the cost of the necessary work, with the communities repaying the commission over a 40-year period—the time expected to be covered by a proposed bond issue that will finance the construction of the sewage facility.

His other proposal was that the sewer line connections by the towns be included as part of the overall waste treatment plant facilities.

Another suggestion offered was that the municipalities only finance that part of the necessary work as was financially possible at present. It was more or less understood, however, that the most satisfactory method of handling the work would be to have all work done at once.

Conference Today
Attorney Earl Manges attended the meetings as a representative of the two Tri-Towns communities. He and Walsh were to meet today to discuss all the proposals submitted. Additional meetings will be held before any definite action will be taken.

It was pointed out that something definite should be worked out by the towns since construction work is expected to get underway shortly after the first of next year.

The sewage treatment plant is part of the Lake plant's $30,000,000 expansion program and it is expected to be completed by 1960.

Minted Carrots And Lamb Chop

Interesting accompaniment to water: cover and simmer about 15 minutes; watch so as not to scorch. Add grapes and sugar; heat as short a time as possible. Makes 6 servings.

Minted Carrots
Ingredients: 1 bunch carrots, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon dried crumbled peppermint leaves, 2 tablespoons water, 1 cup stemmed seedless grapes, 1/2 teaspoon sugar.

Method: Pure carrots; cut into thin rounds. Melt butter in skillet (about 10 inches) over lowing; 1/2 teaspoon onion salt, dash heat; add carrots and cook gently of pepper and one tablespoon about 10 minutes; stir occasionally. Mix well and chill. Add salt, peppermint and sugar. Makes about one cup.

Deviled Crab Dip
Drain, bone and flake one 6-ounce can of crabmeat. Add two chopped, hard-cooked eggs, 1/2 cup mayonnaise, prepared mustard, 1/2 cup chopped onion salt, dash heat; add carrots and cook gently of pepper and one tablespoon about 10 minutes; stir occasionally. Mix well and chill. Add salt, peppermint and sugar. Makes about one cup.

Cinnamon Nut Loaf

Star this recipe for Cinnamon Nut Loaf enriched with instant nonfat dry milk. It is a delicious attraction for "coffee breaks," breakfast or snacks, and it is likely to be a popular recipe wherever it appears on menus. A complete envelope of instant nonfat dry milk is called for in this nutritious quick bread recipe. It is so simple to use in this way. Simply add the contents of an envelope of instant nonfat dry milk (1/2 cup instant nonfat dry milk powder) to the flour and other dry ingredients and use water as the liquid. In this way it is possible to fortify a recipe with an extra amount of important milk nutrients without increasing the quantity.

Cinnamon Nut Loaf
3 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 cup raisins, if desired
2 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/2 cup (one envelope) instant nonfat dry milk powder
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup water

Cinnamon Mixture:
1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2 tablespoons flour
2 teaspoons cinnamon
2 tablespoons melted butter
1 cup coarsely chopped walnut meats

Method: Cream butter; gradually add sugar; beat until light and fluffy. Add eggs; mix thoroughly. Stir in raisins, if used. Sift together flour, instant nonfat dry milk powder, baking powder and salt. Add dry ingredients alternately with water, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Combine brown sugar, 2 tablespoons flour, cinnamon, melted butter and walnuts. Pour one third of batter into (9x5x3-inch) loaf pan which has been greased, waxed paper lined and greased again; sprinkle with one half of the cinnamon mixture. Repeat ending with batter. Bake in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) 55 minutes; increase oven temperature to hot (375 degrees F.) for 5 minutes or until top is golden brown.

Chop Casserole Easy To Make

covered, until tender throughout when pierced with a fork—about 20 minutes. Drain and peel, rinsing first with cold water to make cool enough to handle. Slice each potato in half lengthwise. Trim most of fat from around chops. In a heavy 9- or 10-inch skillet, melt the butter; add chops and brown rapidly on both sides—this will take about 5 minutes. Remove and sprinkle chops lightly with salt and pepper. To drippings in hot skillet, add currant jelly, orange juice, lemon rind, lemon juice, mustard, paprika and ginger; stir over low heat until jelly finishes melting and spices dissolve. Arrange potatoes and chops alternately in a baking dish—one that is about 9 inches in diameter and about 2 inches deep is a good size; have chops partly propped up by potato slices. Pour hot sauce over chops and potatoes. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until chops are cooked through and sauce is partly reduced. Baste chops a few times. To test chops for doneness, cut a slit near the bone; meat should show no trace of pink. Makes 4 servings.

Note: If any of the sauce is left over, strain and refrigerate. It will be good reheated and served with ham.

Salad Dressing Needs Olive Oil

An old Andalusian saying describes the kind of people needed to make a salad dressing: "a spendthrift for the oil, a miser for the vinegar, a counselor for the salt and a madman to stir them up."

Plenty of olive oil is the secret and a half of Spanish olive oil of all good dressings, four parts with half a cup of lemon juice, of oil to one of vinegar or lemon juice, salt, pepper and mustard to taste, and a few grains of sugar to help bring out flavors. This is a good basic dressing for greens, and for vegetables you want to serve cold, such as green beans, beets, onions, cucumbers or tomatoes.

Spanish Dressing Suggested For Salads
A very light, very simple salad dressing to serve with hearty foods is the classic Spanish dressing made by combining a cup and a half of Spanish olive oil with half a cup of lemon juice, salt and pepper to taste. You can add a crushed garlic clove, or two teaspoons of dried mustard, or two chopped hard-boiled eggs along with a quarter-cup of chopped stuffed olives, to vary the basic taste of this perfect dressing.

HEARTY HURRY-UP MEAL

Pork chops and sweet potatoes baked in sweet 'n' spicy sauce.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

That favorite American team, pork chops and sweet potatoes, gets savory and attractive treatment in this casserole offering.

Current jelly, orange juice, lemon rind and lemon juice, plus a mixture of spices are poured over the meat and potatoes and the dish is baked for about 40 minutes.

The sweet potatoes must be boiled and the chops browned before they go into the oven but neither process takes long. The ingredients for the sauce may be mixed beforehand. Keep this dish in mind as one you can put together fairly quickly when you come home late in the afternoon, after shopping or that club meeting.

Method: Scrub sweet potatoes in cold water and trim off any stringy parts. Do not pare. Place in a medium-sized kettle and cover with boiling water; add 2 teaspoons salt. Bring to a boil; boil

Keep Fish Fresh In Home Freezer

CORVALLIS, Ore. — (INS) — "The average fishing enthusiast lucky enough to catch his limit may need some kitchen help to preserve it."

Freezing is a good way to preserve fish at home, and it is relatively easy to do.

R. O. Simmler, Oregon State College food technologist, offers these tips:

To freeze salmon, clean the fish, leaving skin on and bones in. The skin acts as a protective coating for the meat. Cut salmon in baking size chunks. Then put into containers. (One and two-pound coffee tins make good containers). Cover the whole piece of fish completely with water. If any of the fish is left exposed to air, rancidity is apt to occur. Seal the cans tightly with freezer tape, so moisture cannot evaporate and condense on freezer walls.

Fish will keep this way for several months in the freezer.

Homemakers who want to keep trout a few days before it's eaten can put the trout in an ice cube tray, with skin and bones, intact, and cover the fish with water. The water should fill in around body cavities, so air bubbles are not formed underneath the fish.

Family Lunch

Here's a new version of an old-time recipe.

Baked Tomato Eggs
Snap Beans Baked Potatoes Bread Tray

COOKIES
BAKED TOMATO EGGS
Ingredients: 4 medium-large tomatoes (1 1/2 to 1 3/4 pounds), 1 teaspoon anchovy paste, 4 eggs, 1 cup finely grated Parmesan cheese.

Method: Cut a thin slice from the top of each washed and dried tomato; cut out insides in large plug shapes with a small sharp knife; with fingers or teaspoon, remove seeds, juice and inside wall sections. Make sure outside wall of pulp and skin of tomatoes is intact. Put 1/2 teaspoon anchovy paste in bottom of each tomato and spread a bit. Drop a whole egg into each tomato shell; sprinkle egg with grated cheese. Place on foil in shallow baking dish and bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven for 25 minutes when whites and yolks should be well set; if you would like them firmer, raise oven heat to 375 degrees and bake another 5 minutes. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

Note: If there are young children in your family, anchovy paste may be omitted from their portions. No salt is added because anchovy paste and Parmesan cheese usually add enough.

Cake Decoration
Pretty cake decoration: melt half of a square of unsweetened chocolate with half a teaspoon of butter or margarine over hot water; dip pink mints (each about the size of a quarter) into the chocolate so the candies are half covered. Stick the mints around the edge of a chocolate frosted cake to give a pink-and-brown border.

Two pounds of short ribs will make four servings. The ribs will have to be braised a couple of hours.

Canned Lobster Used In Bisque

Begin a festive meal with a delicate bisque made with canned rock lobster.

Place 2½ cups milk, 1 tablespoon flour, 2 tablespoons butter, a teaspoon of salt and a dash of pepper in top of blender, along with ½ cup canned rock lobster coarsely diced. Add ½ teaspoon of curry powder and a dash of paprika. Run blender until contents are smooth—from 1 to 3 minutes. Pour into a saucepan and bring to a boil over low heat, stirring constantly. If no blender is available, combine melted butter or margarine and flour, add milk and bring to boiling point. Mash lobster to a paste with a fork, add along with other ingredients. This recipe serves four.

For Gelatin Quaffers

If you're drinking gelatin once a day as an excellent source of protein, the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association says you should try putting it in clear cold bouillon (one envelope to a cup). Other good liquids with which to combine gelatin are V-8, orange juice or prune juice.

Spaghetti Sauce

For gourmets only: crushed garlic mixed with minced fresh basil and grated Parmesan cheese and tossed with hot drained cooked spaghetti and a little butter or olive oil.

About The Hamburger And Its Long History

Where did the hamburger originate? The story goes that hamburger steak had its beginning in the city of Hamburg, Germany. The ancient traders of Hamburg brought back from the Baltic provinces of Russia a taste for red meat, shredded with a dull knife and eaten raw. Generally speaking, however, America's preference runs more to cooked meat and a convenient way of eating it. . . . thus evolved the hamburger as we know it.

Here's a hamburger recipe . . . a delicious combination of ground beef, seasonings and evaporated milk that's broiled right on the bun. The evaporated milk keeps the meat moist, tender and firm-textured, something no other form of milk can do.

Bulls-Eye Burgers
(Makes 6 servings)

½ cup (small can) undiluted evaporated milk
1 egg
1½ pounds ground beef
½ cup fine cracker crumbs
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 cup finely chopped onion
½ cup finely chopped green pepper
6 hamburger buns, split in half
1 5-ounce jar processed

Food Editors Fatten Up On Tomorrow's Foods

TRAVELING CHEF Rudolf Standish shows food editors how to turn out four omelets in a minute.

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Food & Markets Editor CHICAGO — (NEA) — The big week for 150 American newspaper food editors begins at a party host Angostura-Wupperman hospitality suite in the Drake Hotel, where coffee and orange juice (from the Florida Citrus Commission) are on tap and a battalion of beauty operators stands by to reset travel-mussed hair.

It winds up Oct. 4 with a party at which the editors can get hints about their horoscopes—and about the use of aromatic bitters in cooking, courtesy of a party host Angostura-Wupperman hospitality suite in the Drake Hotel, where coffee and orange juice (from the Florida Citrus Commission) are on tap and a battalion of beauty operators stands by to reset travel-mussed hair.

Chuck Roast, Ham, Turkey Among Best Meat Purchases

By The Associated Press

Chuck roast, smoked ham and turkey will be priced to catch the housewife's eye this weekend in many supermarkets and corner groceries.

Beef prices are backing off a bit from their recent high level, one chain meat expert said. This would account for the popularity of low-priced chuck roast—and hamburger—among the week's meat offerings. Steakin prices, on the other hand, are reported anywhere from eight cents a pound lower to four cents a pound higher.

Bacon in smoked ham are a forerunner of pork price cuts expected later this fall as supplies increase. Fresh pork loins also are offered in some areas, with one chain in the New York metropolitan area charging only 49 cents a pound for the whole loin or either half. Pork chops are from two to six cents a pound cheaper in some places.

Bacon prices are reported more reasonable at 65 cents a pound in some areas.

Turkeys have been low priced for some time and are likely to stay that way. Supplies are again at record levels, topping last year's previous record by five per cent with a flock of about 81 million birds. Storage stocks also are at record levels.

Eggs are reported a few cents higher in some regions, while fryers are somewhat less expensive generally.

Vegetables in the outstanding buy category include potatoes, onions, green cabbage where it's available from nearby growing areas, and nearby peppers. The careful shopper also can get good buys in Western cabbage, carrots, broccoli, brussels sprouts, and yellow and green squash.

Mushroom Soup Recipe Given

It's the main dish that counts in the meal you plan around this recipe.

Almost everything else takes a back seat . . . mushroom soup, top preferred!

Mix 1 can (11½ cups) condensed cream of mushroom soup, 1 cup milk, dash black pepper and 1 small onion, minced.

Arrange alternate layers of potatoes (5 cups sliced raw potatoes) with sauce in a greased 2 quart casserole.

Cover and bake in moderate oven (375 degrees Fahrenheit) about 1 hour. Serve with crisp salad.

Try Favorite Old Time Dish

Apple Crisp

Ingredients—1 cup sifted flour, 1 cup sugar, 6 tablespoons butter or margarine, 4 cups thinly sliced pared apples, ¼ cup water, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ½ teaspoon salt.

Method—Mix flour, sugar and butter together with pastry blender or fingers until crumbly. Turn apples into a shallow baking dish—8 by 10 by 1½ inches. Mix water, vanilla and salt together; sprinkle over apples. Sprinkle potatoes (5 cups sliced raw potatoes) with sauce in a greased 2 quart casserole.

Cover and bake in moderate oven (375 degrees Fahrenheit) about 1 hour. Serve with crisp salad as is or with plain or whipped cream. Makes 6 servings.

Topping Flavors: Apple, Orange

Applesauce and orange rind flavor this delicious topping for a mix-made angel food cake.

Prepare angel food cake according to directions on package. Bake in 10-inch tube pan. Cool.

Combine 1 tablespoon cornstarch and 1 tablespoon water; blend well; add 2 cups canned applesauce. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add 2 teaspoons grated orange rind and cool.

Cut angel food cake into 3 layers and spread applesauce filling between. Boil 1 cup sugar, ½ cup light corn syrup and 1 cup water to 242 degrees Fahrenheit, or until syrup spins a thread 6 to 8 inches long. When mixture begins to boil, start beating ½ cup egg whites until stiff enough to peak. Pour syrup in slow, steady stream into egg whites, beating constantly. Beat until stiff. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla extract and spread on top and sides of cake. Garnish with chocolate curls.

The object: to bring the nation's food editors up-to-date on what you'll be eating tomorrow.

It's no breakfast in bed junk. Swift & Co., largest meat packer, rings the rising bell with a meal of new ham "quicks" and a talk by president P. M. Jarvis on improved diet plans. Alcoa roasts them out with an international breakfast—and an aluminum pig that shoots cookies. But cereal maker Kellogg sends their breakfast food samples back home for them.

Day after day they meet with the know-how boys of the food industry. The American Meat Institute, United Fruit, General Foods, among many others, report on latest research. Sheep producers demonstrate how to carve lamb; sugar producers report on a survey that shows most families want more sugar in canned fruit.

Jambalaya

A variation of this Caribbean casserole that will serve six is made by browning in a skillet one pound of diced pork in two tablespoons of olive oil, then adding a pound of diced ham and frying for two more minutes. Remove the meat. Bring to a boil in the skillet four cups of water and half cup of Spanish sherry—either a nutty amontillado or a sweet oloroso—along with a teaspoon of dry mustard and half-teaspoons of thyme, savory and celery salt, and freshly grated pepper. Place the meat in a casserole, cover with one and a half cups of quick-cooking rice, and pour over the liquid from the skillet. Bake, covered, for forty minutes at 325° F., stirring once after it has cooked for twenty minutes.

Try Chicken In Mousse

The clever homemaker with a busy schedule welcomes main dishes she can make beforehand. When making her plans for a special event, molded salads and main dishes are a perfect choice for such occasions and will insure immediate attention when they are as flavorful and attractive as this Chicken Mousse.

A well-seasoned nutritious cream sauce with diced chicken, turkey or veal added makes this a satisfying entree. The celery, olives, grated onion and sliced almonds heighten the flavor and add a pleasant texture contrast. Try this recipe for family meals or a special luncheon or supper.

- Chicken Mousse
- 2 envelopes plain gelatin
 - 2 1/2 cups milk
 - 3/4 cup butter
 - 3 tablespoons flour
 - 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon celery salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon monosodium glutamate, optional
 - 1/2 teaspoon grated onion
 - Dash of pepper
 - 1 1/2 cups salad dressing
 - 3 cups diced cooked chicken, turkey or veal
 - 1 cup thinly sliced celery
 - 1/2 cup sliced stuffed olives
 - 1/2 cup sliced blanched almonds
 - 1/2 cup whipping cream, whipped

Soften gelatin in 1/2 cup cold milk for 5 minutes. Melt butter in saucepan over low heat and blend in flour. Add milk slowly, stirring constantly, and cook until sauce is smooth and thick.

Spinach Ring Serves Six

This recipe for spinach ring serves 6.

Cook, drain and chop fine 1/2 peck fresh green spinach. Beat up together two eggs. Mix in with the eggs 1 tablespoon cornstarch, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon sugar, and salt and pepper to taste—then add to the spinach.

Now add 1 cup whipped cream in this mixture and pour into a buttered ring mold. Steam for one hour or more. Then fill center with creamed eggs or mushrooms.

Have the water boiling when you put green vegetables on to cook. Leaving off the lid helps to keep the green color. With leafy greens, such as spinach, use a lid at the start until they are wilted then take it off.

Roast Lamb

Ever roast a shoulder of lamb? Have the butcher bone and roll it.

Gallic Gourmet Recipe Toasts Swiss Cheese

Swiss cheese sandwiches with a French flair! O-o-la, la!

These are fare for guests, go well with foaming glasses of ale, take to patio serving when you've that kind of weather and can be tops on your list for at-table serving indoors on crisp, cool nights.

Note the French toast treatment in this recipe, and the beautifully blending flavor of mushroom soup. Tres bon!

Swiss-French Skillet Sandwiches

- 1 package (6 oz.) Swiss cheese
 - 8 slices bread
 - 4 teaspoons prepared mustard
 - 1 egg, slightly beaten
 - 1/2 cup milk
 - 4 tablespoons butter or margarine
 - 1 can (13 oz.) mushroom soup
 - 1/2 cup crumbled crisp bacon
- Trim the edges of the cheese. Cut the slices in half. Place cheese on 4 slices of bread. Brush cheese with mustard; top with a slice of bread. Combine the egg and one-half cup milk; pour into a shallow plate.
- Dip both sides of the sandwiches in the egg mixture. Brown the sandwiches in the butter or margarine 5 minutes in a skillet or griddle, turning once.
- In a saucepan heat the mushroom soup and the remaining milk until piping hot. Serve over the sandwiches. Sprinkle crumbled crisp bacon over each. Serve immediately. Serves 4.

Meringues Top Off Hearty Meals

BY CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

A light and pretty dessert, featuring fruit, may appeal to you to serve after a hearty main course. It calls for no extra sugar and so just the sweetness of the fruit predominates.

This dessert has several inducements. The peach halves and maraschino cherries it calls for can be on hand on your pantry shelf. The cherries go into a stuffing for the peaches along with a 3-ounce package of cream cheese, lemon juice and a beaten egg white. The egg white may be one that is left over; it can be kept for about a week, ready to use, if you put it in a small jar with a tight screw-band lid and refrigerate it.

This dessert is a good one to prepare if there are weight-watchers in your family, because some of the plain peach halves garnished with cherries may be served minus the filling. This double-duty service means no extra work for the cook.

Cherry Peach Toppers

- Ingredients: 1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 egg white, salt, 1/2 cup (about 10) chopped drained maraschino cherries, 4 large, canned drained yellow cling peach halves, whole maraschino cherries (if desired).
- Method: Have cream cheese (in a medium-sized mixing bowl) at room temperature so it will be soft. With a spoon, gradually beat in lemon juice until smooth. With rotary beater (hand or electric) beat egg white and a dash of salt until it holds straight peaks that do not flop over when beater is slowly withdrawn. Fold egg white partly into cream-cheese mixture; add cherries and continue folding until well distributed. Arrange peach halves in a small shallow baking pan, cavity sides up. Spoon cherry mixture into each cavity. Bake in a hot (425 degrees) oven 15 minutes; topping will be set and any peaks will be tinged with brown. Serve warm. Garnish with whole maraschino cherries if desired. Makes 4 servings.

Cantaloupe Mash Cooling Dessert

Mashed fresh cantaloupe makes an unusual and cooling dessert. Set temperature control of refrigerator to coldest point. Soften 1 package unflavored gelatin in 1/4 cup cold water. Set aside Cook 3 cups mashed ripe cantaloupe and 1/2 cup sugar together in a saucepan only until hot and sugar is dissolved. Stir in softened gelatin.

Pineapple Stuffing In Celery

Try filling 3-inch fingers of celery with cream cheese, softened with milk or cream and pour into cantaloupe mixture. Freeze until firm. Serves 8 to 10.

Pizza Roll-Ups For Your Gang

The gang coming over and you want to serve something different and especially nice? Here's the answer:

Pizza Roll-Ups

Ingredients: 1 cup grated cheddar cheese, 1/2 cup canned tomato sauce, 1/2 cup chopped ripe olives, 1/2 teaspoon dried crushed oregano or chili powder, 14 thin slices bread, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine (melted).

Method: Mix cheese, tomato sauce, ripe olives and oregano. Trim crusts from bread and spread with cheese mixture. Roll each slice like a miniature jelly roll; fasten with a pick. Brush with melted butter and lay on baking sheet. Bake in hot (400 Fahrenheit) oven until crisp and browned about 15 minutes. Serve at once. Makes 14 small rolls; cut them in half if you want daintier hors d'oeuvres.

Quick Ham Spread

- Ingredients: 1 can (4 1/2 ounces) deviled ham, 1/2 cup finely grated sharp cheddar cheese (lightly packed), 3 tablespoons finely chopped pickle.
- Method: Mix together the ham, cheese and pickle; chill. Makes about 1/2 cup. Delicious as a spread for crisp crackers or melba toast, small squares of pumpkin seed bread or party-size slices of rye bread. Store in covered container in refrigerator.
- Note: We used sweet dill strips (thickly chopped) in this recipe.

Paradise Fruit Cream Pleases

Dried, canned and fresh fruit make this dessert, paradise fruit cream, interesting and highly appealing. Chewy raisins with their deep flavor play a special role; because they are a concentrated fruit, with concentrated food values. About 4 pounds of fresh fruit are required to make one pound of dried.

Paradise Fruit Cream

- 1/2 cup light or dark raisins
- 1/2 cup syrup from pineapple
- 2 medium-sized bananas
- 10 quartered marshmallows
- 2 tablespoons sliced maraschino cherries
- 1/2 cup coarsely cut pineapple
- 1/2 cup whipping cream

Cover raisins with boiling water; let stand 5 minutes; drain and chop. Combine pineapple syrup, sliced bananas and marshmallows; let stand about 15 minutes. Stir in cherries and pineapple. Chill. Whip cream stiff; blend in raisins. Fold raisin-cream mixture into fruit and marshmallow mixture just before serving. Makes about six servings.

No Skipped Breakfasts

A call to a kitchen filled with the early morning aroma of baking muffins will rouse the sleepiest family out for breakfast. Even confirmed breakfast-skippers respond to the appeal of freshly baked breakfast breads.

You can achieve one of these tempting quick breads without arising at the crack of dawn. With planning it's simple — and the results certainly are worth a case in point.

The night before, chop the cranberries and combine them with the sugar. Grade the orange rind. Sift together the dry ingredients—flour, baking powder, sugar and salt. Grease muffin cups. Then, in the morning, beat the oven while you finish preparations. Combine the beaten egg with milk, shortening and the grated rind. Use cooking oil to save the step of melting the shortening. Add the liquid mixture to the dry. Last, stir in cranberries.

Cranberry-orange muffins bake in about 25 minutes while you set the table and attend to the rest of the breakfast menu.

Of course, it's not every morning of the week that you're inclined to try your hand at baking. Let your commercial baker help you make your breakfasts.

Yanks Solid 12-5 Choice To Capture World Series

WVU Freshmen Play GW Next

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. — West Virginia University's freshman football squad plays George Washington Saturday night at Hite Field, with Grafton's John Scragg slated to start at quarterback for the Little Mountaineers.

The rest of the backfield will be composed of Dick Marion of Wheeling and John Marra of Shinnston, halves, and Joe Roy of Webster Springs at fullback. The line has Bob Lavelle of Jeanette, Pa., and Tom McFadden of Euclid, O., at ends, Dick Smith of Nitro and Bill Strauss of Marietta, O., tackles, Glenn Bowman of Charleston and Paul Gatto of Vandergrift, Pa., at guards and Ed Kensky of Clairton, Pa., at center.

Four of the freshmen did not play because of injuries in the 6-6 tie with Virginia Tech last Saturday at Gary. WVU scored on a 41-yard touchdown dash by Scragg in the first quarter, but he fumbled on his own 4 yard line and Virginia Tech, aided by a penalty, scored on fourth down to tie the score.

Bowhunters Club To Hold Tourney

The Cumberland Bowhunters Club will hold its first annual tournament Sunday on the club range, 1 1/2 miles north of the crossroads on Bedford Road.

Registration will begin at 9 a.m., with shooting scheduled to start a half-hour later. The event is open to the public.

Ford Nearing Series Record For Victories

NEW YORK (AP) — Figuring the World Series: Mickey Mantle's two hits in four tries increased his series batting average 10 points to .271. The Yankees' star has 26 hits in 96 at bats—15 singles, two doubles, one triple and eight homers.

Jerry Coleman's second inning double was his first series hit since 1931. He played in the 1935 and 1936 classics but did not have a safe blow.

Incidental info about today's pitchers: Lew Burdette pitched 14 complete games in 33 starts in the regular season and gave up 25 homers in 237 innings. Bobby Shantz went the distance nine times in 23 starts and yielded 15 homers in 173 frames.

Johnny Logan, the Braves' shortstop, now has failed to hit safely in his last 14 trips, including 11 in the National League campaign. He was 0-for-3 yesterday.

Whitey Ford's victory put him within two of the series record. Red Ruffing and Allie Reynolds of the Yankees (who else?) each won seven. Whitey's a good bet to break the mark since he's only 28 years old.

Ford also reduced his series earned run average to a smart 2.62. The left-hander has yielded only 16 earned runs in 54 2/3 innings.

Braves Bank On Burdette Today, Lose Opener, 3-1

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees ruled a solid 12-5 choice to capture the World Series as left-hander Bobby Shantz and Milwaukee right-hander Lew Burdette prepared to take the mound today in what is regarded as the key game.

Should Shantz subdue the Braves, following Whitey Ford's five-hit 3-1 triumph for New York, the Yankees could conceivably sweep the set in four straight. Should the Braves even the score, the outlook is for a knock-down and drag-out seven games.

Nervous, Restrained

The Braves were nervous and restrained in the opener. They didn't hit, their fielding wasn't sharp and they didn't play alert heads-up ball. The Yankees outthrew them, outpitched them, outfielded them, outpitched them and outthought them. Yet the Braves weren't exactly outclassed. Certainly the Yankees didn't overpower them. They just did everything a little bit better than the Braves.

Warren Spahn, who was battered out in the sixth inning to suffer the loss, may have sounded the keynote for his team when he remarked in the clubhouse after the game: "The Yankees showed us they were human too. They didn't exactly roll over us. We were in the game all the way."

If Manager Fred Haney was discouraged, he failed to show it. "We have no excuses," he said. "We got beat, that's all. We had several opportunities, but we just didn't hit enough. The Yankees can be beaten. I'm still confident we'll win."

Pair Winless ACC Elevens Play Saturday

By The Associated Press

Two winless Atlantic Coast Conference football teams — Wake Forest and Virginia — hope to remove some of last Saturday's shellac when they meet at Winston-Salem, N. C., Saturday night.

Virginia, which surprised fans when it held powerful West Virginia to a 6-6 tie in the season opener, comes into the game still smarting from last Saturday's 40-0 loss to Duke.

Wake Forest strung together an amazing series of bubbles and lost to Florida 27-0.

Deacons' Homecoming

The game is Wake Forest's homecoming celebration and the Deacons worked hard yesterday preparing for it. Coach Paul Amen polished up his offense and then put his top two units on defense against Virginia plays.

Virginia, meanwhile, put the practice emphasis on its offense. Coach Ben Martin said sophomore halfbacks Carl Moser and Tommy Gravins will get prominent roles in the Wake Forest game.

Elsewhere around the conference yesterday:

North Carolina State, rapidly gaining stature as a conference strong man, sharpened up its passing and kicking game, as well as giving attention to defensive maneuvers. Coach Earl Edwards reported the squad in good physical shape for Saturday's meeting with defending conference champion Clemson.

Ease Up Contact Work

Clemson continued to set defenses for State's multiple offense. Coach Frank Howard eased up on contact work.

Coach Warren Giese put the South Carolina Gamecocks through their last contact work before Saturday's game with Texas.

North Carolina emphasized pass defense and kicking as Coach Jim Tatum took advantage of the first dry field of the week in preparing for Navy Saturday.

Coach Bill Murray drilled the Duke Blue Devils until twilight. The squad, which will meet Maryland Saturday, spent most of the time on defense.

Stengel Calls Mantle 'Best' World Cripple

NEW YORK (AP) — Casey Stengel sat on the green leather couch in his office under Yankee Stadium, looked up and said "Well now, I'll tell you this. That Mantle is the best damn cripple in the world ain't he?"

It was an hour or so after his New York Yankees had beaten Milwaukee's Braves 3-1 in the first game of the World Series yesterday. Most of the reporters was free from questions and was able to talk about what HE wanted to talk about with the few who remained.

Will Play Today

"He'll be out there in center field for the second game," said Case, still talking about Mickey Mantle, the young man with the old legs. "Unless of course he comes up to me and says 'Case, I can't play.' But maybe that's one thing wrong with him. He always wants to play. He hardly ever asks to be taken out."

"One thing maybe you don't understand. These shin splints of his, they don't bother him when he's running. It's when he stands there at the plate. You ever watch his face when he bats? It's horrible the way he grunts and strains because of the pain."

Mantle was half of Stengel's problem in this series. The other half was Bill Skowron, his scowling first baseman, apparently last for the rest of the series because he re-injured his back yesterday.

Before the series opened, Stengel had said "if you were to ask me, I'd say that what we do is all up to those two fellas. I'd rate this club on how Mantle and Skowron can play."

Skowron 'Gone'

Now Skowron appears to be gone. The young first baseman, a slugging righthander batter, when he's fit, snapped his back again while running out a first inning ground ball. He stayed in the game until he went back to the dugout after the Braves had been retired in the second.

"I finally told Casey I couldn't play," he said.

Skowron was standing in his stall (the Yankees don't have lockers in their "locker room") and he said he felt his back "go out" again as he "tried to run a little extra to beat a double play."

"Lock at me," he snapped. "My back's more crooked now than when I hurt it the first time. The doc says I have a lot of muscle spasm on the left side. He doesn't know whether I can play or not. He didn't say I was out for the rest of the series."

"But I'll tell you this. It hurts something awful just standing here."

The series opener was Skowron's first game since Sept. 13, a few days after he had injured his back while picking up an air conditioner in his home.

Simpson At First

With a righthander, Lew Burdette, pitching for the Braves today, Stengel wouldn't use Skowron, a righthander batter, anyway. Harry Simpson, a lefty swinger, is the first choice.

"And maybe I'll have Jerry Lumpe or Tony Kubek (both left-handed batters) at third in the second game even though Andy Carey (a righthander hitter) played all right there," said Stengel.

"But if Carey's all right," someone asked, "why change him?"

"Why shouldn't I?" asked Stengel. "I'm the manager, ain't I?"

Ford Credits Sal Maglie For 'Good Book' On Braves

NEW YORK (AP) — The hero of the opening World Series game was Yankee curve-baller Whitey Ford, but he was a hero with a trailer. He said so himself.

The trailer was Sal (The Barber) Maglie, the corner-cutting veteran whose tour of duty has included the outlaw Mexican leagues, New York Giants, Cleveland Indians, Brooklyn Dodgers and now the New York Yankees.

Ineligible For Series

Bought by the Yankees Sept. 1, after the deadline for World Series eligibility. The Barber couldn't be put on the firing line against the Milwaukee Braves.

But some of his wizardry was in every pitch as Ford mowed down the National League champions 3-1 on five hits for his fifth World Series victory.

"I had a pretty good book on the Braves but I think Maglie helped me more than anybody," Ford said.

Invaluable Dope

"Our scouts did a very thorough job. But Maglie knew all there was to know about the Braves because he had faced them so many times. The dope he gave me was invaluable."

"During the past two weeks as we trained for the series we would take outfield sprints together. All this time Maglie would be going over the Braves hitters with me."

"I guess for half an hour to an hour daily we'd hone up on the Milwaukee hitters. When we got through I felt as if I'd been pitching against them for years."

Spahn Says He'd Hurl Same Way

NEW YORK (AP) — Southpaw Warren Spahn, the Milwaukee ace who won 21 games this season, had no regrets over his loss in the opening game of the World Series against the New York Yankees.

"I'd pitch it the same way, except for maybe two or three pitches," said Spahn, who was battered out in a two-run sixth.

"And the pitches I'd like to have back didn't hurt me."

"I hung a curve to Berra, but he died out. I sent a pitch high to Bauer, when I wanted it low, and he grounded to short. I did the same thing to McDougald and he hit it to right for a single, but he didn't go any place."

Banking On Burdette

Haney was banking on Burdette, second only in Spahn during the Braves' stretch run in September. The slender 30-year-old West Virginian is an experienced pitcher even though he never before has appeared in a World Series. A 17-game winner, Lew's best pitches are a curve and a slider. He pitches something like Spahn, who gave up seven of the nine Yankee hits before leaving underfire in the Yankees' two-run rally in the sixth.

For Shantz, as well as Burdette, this was series assignment No. 1. The little southpaw, acquired in a trade with Kansas City last February, earned his shot at Milwaukee with an 11-5 record and an earned run average of 2.44, lowest in the majors. The 5-7, 145-pounder also relies on breaking stuff, slow curves, screwballs and knucklers.

Manager Casey Stengel's selection of Shantz was based on the winning effort of Ford, who held the Braves to five hits, only one of which was longer than a single. Casey said had the left-hander Ford been ineffective, he would have come back today with Bob Turley, his strong-armed right-hander.

Firm In Clutch

Ford turned in a neat performance but he has pitched better games in World Series. He issued four passes and was in several trouble spots but remained firm in the clutch. Milwaukee batters, switching at bad pitches and watching good ones go by didn't hurt him either.

In the sixth, Stengel left the dugout to give a few words of advice and encouragement to the compact little left-hander. There

Flanagan Rank In Jeopardy With Loss To Bahama

CHICAGO (AP) — Del Flanagan, veteran St. Paul batter, may have a hard time holding his No. 10 rating in the middleweight division.

He lost a 10-round unanimous decision to unranked Yama Bahama of the West Indies in a nationally televised match at Chicago Stadium last night.

There were no knockdowns.

Most of the action was packed into the sixth round when Bahama staggered the circling Flanagan with a fine left hook and followed with a right smash.

Bahama constantly caught Flanagan with jolting lefts. Flanagan failed to land a real solid blow all evening.

Referee Frank Sikora scored for Bahama 49-43 under the maximum five-point system. Judge Frank McAdams had it a close 47-45 and Judge Frank Clark saw it 50-42. The Associated Press card favored Bahama 50-44.

Big Ten Pacing Grid Statistics

NEW YORK (AP) — For the first time in the 21 years of the NCAA Service Bureau, teams from one conference — the Big Ten — dominated all departments of offense and defense, as well as kicking after last Saturday's games.

Although Big Ten clubs divided their openers, the NCAA bureau reported today they led the major colleges in seven departments, with Iowa tops in total offense, forward passing and rushing defense. Michigan State led in rushing offense and total defense and Ohio State was the forward pass defense leaders. Minnesota excelled in punting.

goers by their use of the lingo of the tracks.

With them, nothing ever happened in the past and the verb is always plural. Of a horse that ran and won here three times in 1955, the avid horseplayer would say:

"He run three times at Cumberland in 1955, and win all three."

An owner, telling us about his horse's record during the past year, said:

"He run nine times this year and he in the money seven times."

Another, speaking of a horse that just ran third in a race, said:

"What do you think of that? I'm sure I have him ready for this one, and what does he do?"

"Don't be win?" someone asked.

"Nah, he show."

So far we haven't been able to find out how the language of the tracks originated. Past performances are very important to horse players, owners, trainers, and all the others associated with racing. But maybe they leave past history to the writers of charts and forms.

For themselves, they may like to live in the eternal present—waiting for the blast of the bugle, the clang of the starter's bell, the excited cry, "They're off."

Maybe it's living in the present that has colored their speech. Some day we hope to find out for sure.

Before the days of the starting gate, the false start wasn't uncommon.

Once, in those days, an English amateur rider was left at the post. Hoping it was a false start, he looked up at the starter and said, "Is it a 'Go', sir?"

"Yep," said the starter, pointing up the track. "and I think they went that way."

VPI To Begin Road Back In Saturday Tilt

By The Associated Press

Virginia Tech's football team, its Southern Conference title hopes all but destroyed by last Saturday's 14-0 loss to West Virginia, starts down the long road back this week at William & Mary.

It's supposed to be a romp for the Techmen, but Coach Frank Mosley isn't persuaded. All week long, Mosley has been juggling his players frantically.

As a result, the lineup seen by W&M may bear only a passing resemblance to the one seen by West Virginia.

Lugar Back At QB

For a while it appeared even All-Southern quarterback Jimmy Lugar might lose his job, with Billy Cranwell inheriting the starting assignment. Today, however, Lugar seemed back in the driver's seat and Cranwell still the No. 1 reserve.

It's in the line the most sweeping changes have been made. Up front there are only three survivors from the starting lineup that faced West Virginia.

Tech labored on goal line offense and defense in a scrimmage yesterday.

Defense also got first call at William & Mary, where Coach Milt Brewer has been engaged in some player-shifting of his own in an effort to bolster his No. 2 unit.

The Indians, who've connected on just one of 17 passes in two games, also worked on their passing attack.

The Citadel Goes Inside

The Citadel was driven indoors by rain and didn't get to carry out Coach Eddie Teague's plans for lots of practice on its running game. Blocking assignments and offense got attention. Davidson, which meets The Citadel Saturday, concentrated on defense and kicking under pressure.

Furman stressed its running game with halfback Bill Wier and fullback Hicky Horton reeling off nice gains over a soggy turf.

Pace defense, a VMI weakness last week, was stressed at the Keydets' drills. Richmond went through a scrimmage that Coach Ed Merrick called "the worst practice of the year—lifeless and listless."

Colts Entertain Bears Saturday

BALTIMORE (Special) — What is regarded as one of the most awesome attacks in all of football will be on display here Saturday night, 8:35, when the Chicago Bears explode their devastating scoring bomb in the face of the Baltimore Colts.

Owner George Halas, the former field boss of the Bears, summed it up succinctly when he paraphrased Abraham Lincoln thusly:

"You might stop some of the Bears some of the time but not all of the Bears all the time."

That's what the Colts go up against in their only night game of the season. The Bears have last year's leading ball carrier in fullback Rick Casares, the slashing line-backer from Florida, and the foremost passer in Ed Brown, the throw-on-the-run pitcher from the University of San Francisco.

Baltimore flogged Detroit, 34-14, in its opener last week, while the Bears dropped a 21-17 decision to Green Bay.

Pennant-Winning Elks Team Feted

The pennant winning Elks team of the Hot Stove Baseball League was honored with a dinner last night at the Elks home.

Speakers included Eugene Mason, head of the Cumberland Recreation Department, who stressed the need for more backing from clubs to make the city program a success.

George A. Caswell, toastmaster, also introduced Earl M. Nonnenmann, president of the Rotary Club which sponsored the runner-up team in the league, Harry A. Thomas, exalted ruler of the Elks lodge, presided at the dinner.

Also on the program were "Pete" Decker and "Farmer" Northcraft, coaches of the winning team. Each received a gift, and it was announced the boys will receive shirts attesting to their victory.

Thomas presented the league trophy to L. A. Robertson, chairman of the Elks youth activities committee. On hand for the occasion were George Flynn, league vice president, and Frank McIntz, secretary, who were commended for their work.

Approximately 150 attended the dinner.

Hank Bivins of Cincinnati hit safely in 23 straight games during the summer for the Redlegs' Class C Visalia team in the California League. He is a third baseman.

MR-8 KEEPS YOU GUARANTEED* SAFE

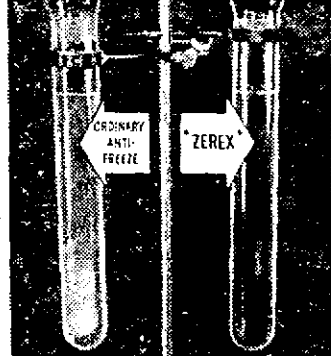

WON'T ROT HOSE

MADE BY DU PONT FOR TODAY'S COMPLEX ENGINES

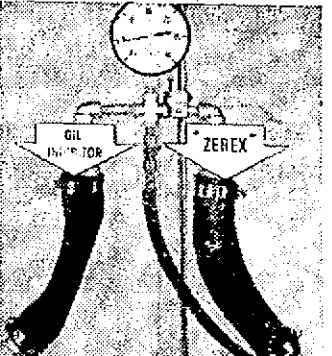

There's no question about the all-around cooling system protection you get with "Zerex," the only permanent type anti-freeze containing MR-8, a product of Du Pont research.

MR-8, Du Pont's special chemical rust inhibitor, gives unequalled protection against acid, rust and corrosion which can cause dangerous overheating and serious engine damage. And, because "Zerex" contains no oil, it won't even rot ordinary rubber radiator hose or contribute to cooling system clogging.

So don't take chances this winter. Get the complete, winter-long protection only "Zerex" with MR-8 gives. It's the premium, permanent type anti-freeze made and guaranteed by Du Pont... your best assurance of quality and satisfaction.

1. Works in all waters. "Zerex" with MR-8 is compatible with all types of water. Even in hard water the inhibitor stays in perfect solution (tube on right above). Hard water makes the inhibitors used in many anti-freezes precipitate out (tube on left), materially reducing their protective qualities.

2. Will not rot rubber hose. "Zerex" with MR-8 will not rot or soften rubber hose (cross on right) because it contains no oil. Oil is extremely harmful to some radiator hose, softening or rotting it sometimes in one season (cross on left) after the hose may collapse or burst, causing overheating and engine damage.

3. Neutralizes all acids. Sample on left demonstrates how the seven different metals used in modern cooling systems can become corroded when permanent anti-freeze solutions turn acid. But "Zerex" with MR-8 has extra "freezing alkalinity" that gives winter-long protection from cooling system acids.

4. Keeps rust in suspension. "Zerex" with MR-8 keeps rust in suspension, clean as a free flowing (see above radiator on left). Because "Zerex" contains no oil, it does not cause rust to stick to cooling system surfaces and plug radiator passages, which can cause overheating and engine damage.

BETTER THINGS FOR BETTER LIVING THROUGH CHEMISTRY

YOU'RE SAFEST WHEN YOUR SERVICEMAN INSTALLS YOUR ANTI-FREEZE!

To fully protect, anti-freeze must be properly installed. This includes flushing the system, checking for leaks, checking the circulation—jobs for an expert. So, to be doubly safe, have your serviceman install your "Zerex" this fall.

Phone Company Employees Begin Christmas Project

A project called "Happiness Pile" has been started by employees of the local office of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company.

The purpose of the project is to collect old toys and clothes and canned goods to be given to the Salvation Army Corps so they may distribute them during the Christmas season.

The week of October 7 has been set as "Happiness Pile Week" and all employees of the company will be asked to bring their donations to the central office building on South Centre Street.

The second floor of the building will be used to store all the articles that will be collected, and several employees have volunteered their services to repair and mend any of the damaged articles.

Mrs. Thomasine Clay and Mrs. Janie Perdue are in charge of arrangements. Anyone who has a donation may call PA 2-9955 or PA 2-9941 during next week and the donation will be picked up.

This is the first year for the project, and if it is successful the phone company plans to continue it each year.

Some Foods Should Not Be Frozen

URBANA, Ill. (INS)—Housewives prone to filling their freezers with everything at hand, should heed the words of a University of Illinois food researcher, who says that some pre-cooked items should not be frozen.

Mrs. Leola West advises that most fried foods do not freeze well as they tend to lose their crispness and develop a warmed-over flavor.

While cooked eggs become tough during freezer storage, potatoes and rice dishes become mushy and also develop that warmed-over taste.

Mrs. West advises against freezing gravies and sauces and cautions that spices and seasonings are inclined to develop off-flavors—either stronger or weaker—when frozen.

Pure vanilla is better for frozen products than a synthetic vanilla and some cake frostings, such as the seven-minute type, do not freeze well.

Lettuce, salad greens and tomatoes become limp and watery when frozen while meringue on cream pies will toughen and stick to the packaging material. Custards and some puddings become watery and lumpy during freezer storage.

Mrs. West says many sandwiches freeze well but that ones made with mayonnaise, jelly or salad dressing tend to become heavy and soggy.

Britons Worry About Their Royal Leaders

LONDON (INS)—The Queen's American tour is certain to revive anxiety in Britain that she and the Duke of Edinburgh may be working too hard.

The members of the royal family are generally conceded to be among the hardest-working people in Britain. Public ceremonies can be exhausting, as anyone knows who has ever stood or sat through one, and the Queen tackles dozens, especially when she is on tour.

The royal family learns all the tricks on avoiding fatigue on such occasions. One of their private mottos is "never miss a chance to sit down for a few moments." But they do get tired and if a camera catches a drawn or worn expression on the Queen's face, thousands of Britons may complain that she is overworked.

A London newspaper once drew up a "box score" of the Queen's activities during a tour of New Zealand, which read like this: handshakes, 5,000; curtsies, 2,000; awards, 200; foundation stones, 11; speeches, made 28, heard 23; anthems, 200; gifts, flowers, 152.

During the complete tour of 19 Commonwealth and foreign nations the score read: handshakes, 13,213; curtsies, 6,770; awards, 536; foundation stones, 15; speeches, made 157, heard 276; anthems, 508; gifts, flowers, 468.

Strange Noise Made By Hungry Felines

HOBBS, N. M. (INS)—"I've been hearing a very peculiar noise out here," a woman called told police, "and I wish you would come out and find out what's making it."

Police sped to the eastern edge of the city where the noise was reported.

The woman had indeed been hearing a strange noise.

Police found a cageful of lions belonging to a circus. They were asking for their evening meal in the only way lions can express themselves—by roaring.

Shoulda Stayed Home In Bed

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (INS)—Beginning of school meant nothing but bad luck for Michael Feyen of Albuquerque.

The first day of school, Mike's best friend—Dennis Drury—was hit by a car and suffered head injuries. A week later Mike lost a prize rod and reel at a fishing derby. Returning home from the derby, Mike discovered his new bike which he bought with summer earnings had been stolen.

The Flint Hills of Kansas encompass nearly seven million acres. The Flint Hills are low ridges in the eastern part of the state with very deep, fertile soil.

Central Tri-Hi-Y Sets Meeting Monday

There will be a meeting of the Central Tri-Hi-Y Monday at 7:30 p. m. in Room 4 at Central YMCA.

It is important for each member to be present because plans will be made for the bake sale which will be held in the near future.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, Marie Ella Keller, who passed away three years ago, October 3, 1954. Our family circle is broken. And the voice we love is still. A place is vacant in our hearts. That no one can ever fill. Sadly missed by children and grand-children.

Ex-Governor Says Leaders 'Spineless'

Remarks Made In Connection With Use Of Troops

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP)—A former South Carolina governor today termed "spineless" the four Southern governors who conferred Tuesday with President Eisenhower on the use of federal troops at Little Rock's Central High School in Arkansas.

"If they had any backbone, it was to support the President," former Gov. B. M. Jeffries said in an interview.

He said this of the four: "Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida is an opportunist."

"Gov. Frank Clement of Tennessee used his Tennessee National Guard to escort Negroes to a white high school" last year.

"Gov. Theodore McKeldin of Maryland nominated President Eisenhower in 1952."

"Gov. Luther Hodges of North Carolina, is not on the fence, he's on both sides of the fence."

As for Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas, Jeffries said "he hasn't been as firm and positive all the way as he should have."

Mechanic Dies From Injuries

SALISBURY (AP)—Bruce Walker Disharoon, 43-year-old mechanic from nearby Hebron, died today from injuries suffered when his car veered off U. S. 50 four miles west of here, went down a 10-foot embankment and overturned on him.

Disharoon died at Peninsula General Hospital at 9:30 a. m., about two hours after the accident. He sustained a crushed chest and multiple injuries.

State Police said Disharoon told him he apparently blacked out, and the car went into the sharp turn across the highway and down the bank. He was enroute from Hebron to Salisbury.

Survivors include his widow and a son.

The municipal employees international is recognized throughout the United States and has more than 10,000 policemen members.

He told the policemen that while the union would work with them for contractual agreements, he realized that in most cities the community leaders were not able by law to enter into contract with union locals.

The union representative also said that all charters issued to police departments had a "no strike" clause.

"Strikes are used to bring about economic pressure against your employer so he will recognize you. But whom do you strike against when you're a city employee? Nobody! And you just antagonize the taxpayer who actually pays your salary," Hastings told them.

Several of the officers, critical of the Civil Service merit system under which they work, asked the AFSCME if changes could be made and if they would lose their Civil Service rights if they joined the union.

The union representative told them he felt that changes could be brought about, including more efficient administration of their departments and the Civil Service if needed. He also said the AFSCME advocated Civil Service and that union members would not lose their benefits.

Man Receives Threat For Home Blast

Postcard Turned Over To FBI By Maryland Police

EASTON, Md. (AP)—A cryptically worded postcard threatening Negro Sessions Boyd with another bombing of his home has been turned over to the FBI.

State Police Lt. Harry P. Trampower said the postcard, which read: "Fiz first time. Boom soon," was received last Friday by Boyd, headwaiter of an Easton restaurant and father of two boys enrolled in a newly integrated school here.

Last Sept. 13, Boyd found a homemade dynamite bomb on his front lawn. The fuse apparently had sputtered out before it ignited the dynamite.

State Police said the postcard bore a Salisbury postmark and the message was written either with red crayon or a red marking pencil.

"The card was turned over to the FBI although the federal agency has not officially entered the case," Trampower said.

Boyd's sons are enrolled in the first and second grades at the Hanson Street Elementary School, scene of anti-integration picketing and the arrest of two persons on opening day.

Mrs. Stewart Paugh

OAKLAND—Mrs. Stella Florence Paugh, 82, wife of Stewart Paugh, North Glade, died yesterday at her home. She had been in ill health for some time.

A lifelong resident of Garrett County, she was a daughter of the late Elijah and Delilah (Witt) Howell. Mrs. Paugh had been a member of North Glade Methodist Church for the past 68 years.

Also surviving besides her husband, are two sons, Clarence Swanton, and Floyd Paugh, Bloomington; a sister, Mrs. James A. Fitzwater, Swanton; three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Services will be conducted Saturday at 2 p. m. (EST) at North Glade Methodist Church by Rev. Charles Eaton, pastor. Burial will be in North Glade Cemetery.
